

NO MARINES LANDED AT DAQUIRI, CUBA

UNITED STATES GUNBOAT PADUCAH REMAINED OFF COAST TODAY AWAITING OPERATIONS.

DEFENSE IS SUFFICIENT

Cuban Government Reported to Have Strong Enough Force to Repel Attack of Insurrectionists.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Santiago, Cuba, June 1.—The United States gunboat Paducah remained off the coast of Daiquiri today, but did not land marines. Fighting continued all night around the Daiquiri mine where the government has a strong detachment. A segment of rurales was killed in the fighting. The mine is being abandoned by the rebels and the mine probably will be closed tomorrow.

The American consul, Mr. Holliday, left this morning for Daiquiri to investigate the situation there which is considered critical. It is reported that Collier Wheeler, an American, who owns a ranch near Daiquiri, has been captured by the rebels and held for ransom.

The Spanish-American iron company has asked for the protection of its property valued at six million dollars, at Felton, near Nipe Bay.

Luis Gomez, who is charged with being an important conspirator in the revolt, was arrested while attempting to embark on the steamer Julia for Santo Domingo.

Gunboat Withdraws.
Havana, June 1.—Secretary of the Interior Laredo Irujo, announced today that the American gunboat Paducah withdrew last night from Daiquiri, anchoring off the coast, where she remained today. The government has received no further news from the front.

The government, however, received a dispatch from Santiago stating that it had just been reported there that the column under Colonel Valiente, and Colonel Villanar, struck the rebels yesterday morning, the fight continuing into the evening. The artillery wrought havoc among the insurgents. The losses and scene of the battle are not given.

Explains Explanation.
Washington, June 1.—An explanation of why Captain David of the Paducah did not land marines at Daiquiri was received in a cablegram at the state department today. It is stated the Cuban government had established a permanent garrison of 35 men at Daiquiri where the Spanish American Mining Company is located. This force is deemed sufficient for the present to defend the place against the insurgents.

No Marines Landed.
No marines have yet been landed at Daiquiri according to early reports received today at the state department. It is pointed out, however, that Commander Mitchell of the gunboat Paducah which is standing off there is acting under orders to land a force whenever it becomes necessary to protect American life and property and he is free to act on his own discretion.

Landed American Iron Company's plant there which was threatened by rebels had been successfully defended by company employees and there was no need of the marines.

With an American gunboat stationed on each side of the eastern end of Cuba prepared to land forces at a moment's notice it is believed here that there is now not so much danger of molestation of American owned plantations and mining properties.

Victory to Government.
Santiago, June 1.—It is reported today that a battle at Mayaba, near Palma Soriano yesterday resulted in a complete victory for the government troops under General Mondulata. The mountain artillery was used with terrible effect, 127 rebels and 18 women who had accompanied them being killed.

ROCKFORD BOOSTERS VISIT CITY TODAY

Auto Load of Citizens Spent Afternoon in Janesville Advertising Dig Spring Festival.

E. S. Bartlett of the Rockford Register-Gazette, H. W. Pollard of the Republic, F. H. Gidding of the Rockford Electric Company, A. H. Shapson of the Central Union Telephone Company, and A. E. Koch of the Rockford Electric Company, representing the Rockford spring festival, arrived in Janesville today giving the people an idea of what the event will be. The festival is to be as strong a feature as the five gentlemen represent it to be there will be no lack of attendance from this section. They made the trip to this city by auto and visited a number of the local business houses.

MOTHER OF SIXTEEN CHILDREN SEEKS DIVORCE FROM SPOUSE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Virginia, Minn., June 1.—With eight nicely dressed children of which she is mother Mrs. Maryanna Zyski appeared in court today to prosecute her case for divorce against her husband Alvin Zyski. The eight children accompanying the woman are only half of her entire family. The other eight having died. These living range in ages from twenty-one years to two and a half. She alleges cruelty on the part of her husband. The husband asserts that the charges are false. Judge Hughes has taken the case under advisement.

GOTHAM HOTELS FACE STRIKE PROBLEM BY A FIRM RESISTANCE

To All Demands of the Strikers—Employment Negroes to Break the Union Strength.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, June 1.—The strike of 3,000 or more workers affected in the twenty-nine hotels, restaurants, and clubs continued as usual today. The strike leaders say that before nightfall many of these employed in other hotels will be called out. Several of the kitchen crews have left work.

The hotel men say today that before they will recognize the union they will shut down their establishments. Leaders of the striking waiters say that engineers, firemen and other hotel employees may be called out. The places of the strikers are being filled by strike breakers from other cities and though causing the hotel owners great inconvenience they were able to take care of the regular patronage.

More than one hundred negroes are waiting to be called into service from the south. Whether or not they will be sent for has not been decided. Two hotels have already filled strikers with negroes. These have virtually been no negroes connected with the strike unions of one hundred and fifty of certain hotels have made up an informal league and hereafter will limit the size of tips to ten per cent of the bill.

TAFT INVESTIGATES ALLEGED DEFECTIONS

Confers With Representatives From Southern States and Finds Votes are Still Safe.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, June 1.—President Taft through conference with representative republicans from southern states is seeking to learn first hand what ground there is for the rumors that there will be a defection from Colonel Roosevelt from the delegations pledged or instructed for the President. He talked today with leaders from Georgia and Virginia who reported that delegates from those states were firm for the President.

It was said at the White House that both President Taft and Secretary Hill had communicated by long distance telephone with many other southern republican leaders and are convinced that Mr. Taft has little to fear from the reports that his instructed or pledged delegates are not to be trusted.

DARROW TRIAL WILL BE LONG DRAWN OUT

Chief Witness for the Prosecution Sticks to His Tale of Attempted Bribery.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Los Angeles, Cal., June 1.—Sensational incidents, alleged to have occurred at the time of the McGinnis trial, as told by J. H. Franklin, one of the state's principal witnesses against Clarence K. Darrow, accused lawyer, has given way to a battle of wits between Darrow's lawyer, Rogers, attorney for the defense, and the state. Chief examination of Franklin began by Rogers late yesterday afternoon, is expected to occupy the entire session today. No one connected with the trial believes that the state will allow Franklin to leave the witness stand before the middle of next week. District Attorney Fredericks has issued a "death warrant" for Harry Skillin, a witness for the state. He has failed to appear.

SOUTHERN WISCONSIN JEWELERS ORGANIZE

Branch of State Association Formed Here Last Night—Frank Doane Elected Secretary.

The Southern Wisconsin Jewelers' club, a branch of the State Jewelers' association, was organized in this city last evening. H. Brill of Beloit was elected president; Frank K. Doane of this city, secretary; and C. W. Grant, also of this city, treasurer. A. W. Anderson of Neenah, secretary of the State Association, presided at the meeting. Delegates were present from Rock, Green, Walworth and Jefferson counties. The names of those present, as nearly as can be ascertained, were: Edward Austin and L. L. Littlefield of Delavan, H. Brill of Beloit, A. E. Hart and Ernest J. Ballard of Evansville, Henry Stetcher of Milwaukee, and C. W. Grant, Olat 11, Olan, and Frank Doane. The next meeting will be held in Janesville, June 12.

Yale Crews to Gales Ferry

New Haven, Conn., June 1.—The Yale crew which is soon to meet Harvard took its last spin on New Haven harbor this morning. The shells were shipped this afternoon to the training quarters at Gales Ferry and the Freshman and Varsity rowmen will follow tomorrow. As the races are scheduled for June 21, the rowmen will have less than three weeks at Gales Ferry. Last year four weeks were spent there preparing for the races.

WIPES OUT ENTIRE FAMILY AND THEN KILLS HIMSELF

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Buffalo, N. Y., June 1.—C. E. Staples, a well to do farmer of Angola, twenty miles from this city, today shot his wife, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Stillmore and then shot himself. Mrs. Stillmore and the murderer died instantly and physicians say Mrs. Staples will die.

REGENTS REPORT ON CARY'S RESOLUTION

Declare That Employment of Assistants at State University Results in Competent Teaching.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 1.—That the only facts which State Supt. C. P. Cary presented to the committee of regents appointed to consider his resolution were in regard to the teaching of two assistants and that Supt. Cary's complaint in each of these cases was based upon the report to him of a single student, were shown in the resolutions adopted by the board of regents held yesterday to consider Supt. Cary's resolution to abolish positions of assistants as teachers in the university.

"In the college of letters and sciences, where there is the largest number of assistants—seventy-four—forty-seven have taught elsewhere before coming to the university," the resolutions adopted by the regents declare. "And of these, thirty-five have taught in other colleges or normal schools; and only a little more than one-third, twenty-seven, have not taught elsewhere also than in the university."

"The great majority of assistants have had experience in teaching," the resolution continues. "In many cases these members of the teaching force have been willing to take assistantships at low salaries, considering the work they are required to do, because of the opportunity to spend the remainder of their time in advanced work. It is the unanimous testimony of the members of the departments and the firm belief of the board of regents that instruction is done better because investigation is also a duty; that without doing scholarly work it would be impossible to obtain other than a mediocre teaching staff."

The resolutions recite that assistants in considerable number are used in the leading universities of America and other countries. As to the character of the teaching done by them at Wisconsin, the report says:

"Facts presented in the reports of the deans and professors show conclusively that the instruction of a great majority of the assistants is satisfactory; that those who give inferior instruction are comparatively few; and this is the most that can be hoped for under any system."

"The facts presented completely contradict the allegation made by the state superintendent that the instruction of freshmen and sophomores is in charge of inexperienced or mediocre teachers; nor is there any foundation for the allegation that the main interests of the assistants are in their graduate studies rather than in their instructional work."

"It appears that in every large department of the university the great elementary subjects are in charge of a man of assistant professor or higher rank, and that most of the important elementary courses are in charge of full professors. These statements apply to such subjects as biology, chemistry, physics, history, and political economy."

The resolutions declare that the teaching is thoroughly supervised, and continue:

"Testimony from the departments shows conclusively that in the work of the university instruction is put first and investigation second. This emphasis conforms to the by-laws of the regents which state the duties of the members of the instructional force to be instruction and investigation."

DAYTON IN MOURNING FOR WILBUR WRIGHT

Thousands View Remains of Pioneer Aviator as They Lay in State—Street Cars Stop for Hours.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Dayton, O., June 1.—Thousands of citizens and hosts of persons from far and near who felt pride in the achievements of Wilbur Wright, the noted aviator, paid respect to his memory today. The body of Wright lay in state for three hours at the First Presbyterian church, and vast throngs viewed the remains. Street cars and steam road traffic suspended operations five minutes and church bells tolled during the funeral hour.

BELOIT ORDINANCE VOID SAYS RAILWAY COMMISSION.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, June 1.—The railway commission today declared void an ordinance of the city of Beloit which would compel the Deloit Water, Gas and Electric company to extend its mains to the residence of John M. Hughes, on Central avenue, upon the ground that it discriminates the degree of service as between patrons.

AIRMAN PLANS FOR A DANGEROUS TRIP ACROSS ATLANTIC

Has Immense Dirigible With Which He Hopes to Cross the Ocean Shortly.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Atlantic City, N. J., June 1.—Nervous Vanhorn looked his airship in which he hopes to cross the Atlantic Ocean out of Hanger early today and after circling around the metropolis and bay for nearly an hour made a safe descent.

After he had his airship stowed safely away in a shed, he expressed himself as satisfied with the test. "The ship is the same one in which I made his flights over this city last fall, with improvement. During the trip he met with a slight accident, which might have ended disastrously."

Very few persons saw the flight which was started at 3:45 a. m. Aboard the airship were Vanhorn's brother, chief engineer, Fred Alma, assistant, George Harrison, assistant, and Walter Grest, mechanic; and Hugh Eppson, of Akron, O., one of the constructors of the ship.

Vanhorn had been up a half an hour when the accident occurred. The dirigible had performed splendidly under the guiding hand of the navigator, responding instantly.

He then decided to try out a new ladder rope, experimenting with a long ladder with a one hundred pound weight which was lowered and permitted to drag in the water. In some manner the brother made a wrong move with the propeller and the middle blade, when a string of three cut in the rope the huge craft came down in a wobbly descent with a broken wing.

It struck the water and a portion of the under part of the structure went under the water, dragging along side one of the planes. When temporary repairs had been made the balloon went aloft once more. Vanhorn, after circling around the bay for a short time, started toward the shore and made a landing.

RHODE ISLAND SAFE IN CLARK COLUMNS

Carries With Him His Entire Ticket For General Commitment As Well.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Providence, R. I., June 1.—Revised complete returns from the first democratic presidential primary in Rhode Island show that Speaker Champ Clark for nomination as president at the national convention and national committeeman Geo. W. Glenn of former years have been victorious.

Speaker Champ Clark returns show 1,107 votes to 1,333 for Governor Wilson and 728 for Governor Harmon.

Committeemen Glenn polled 4,234 votes against 4,981 for congressman Geo. Oschenberg. The delegates to the national democratic convention will support Clark on at least one bill.

ANTI-INCOME TAX LEAGUE ORGANIZED

Opponents of New Taxation Measure Form Association to Fight Men Who Do Not Favor Repeal.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 1.—Opponents of the income tax in Wisconsin are sought as members of a proposed Anti-Income Tax League, and one of the stated objects is the defeat of political candidates who do not favor repeal of the law. Post card membership blanks addressed to Harry W. Holmes of Port Washington, who started the recent suit to test the constitutionality of the law, have been received in this city. The card reads:

"I favor the formation of an Anti-Income Tax League, whose object shall be to secure the repeal of the Wisconsin income tax law, and if such an association is formed you are hereby authorized to enroll my name as a member, without dues. I further pledge myself not to vote for any candidate, irrespective of party, who does not favor the repeal of the state income tax law."

It is understood that the movement is centered in Milwaukee.

STATE TRAITOR TO TUBERCULAR FIGHT?

Madison Milk Dealers Charge University Dairyman With "Going Back" on Cattle Test.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 1.—Unless the Madison common council amends or repeals its present milk ordinance, it will be necessary for the university dairy school to sell a part of its products in the city of Chicago. Prof. E. H. Farrington of the dairy school said today that there is an unusual call for university cream by citizens of Madison. An ordinance of this city provides, however, that only the cream made from milk from non-tubercular cows can be sold here. Prof. Farrington declared that every leading city in the United States provides that either the milk must come from non-tubercular cows or else be pasteurized. Recently the common council refused to add a pasteurizing feature to the present ordinance.

Madison milk dealers are making a fight to compel the university to sell only the cream made from milk from non-tubercular cows. They say that the university authorities have made a long fight in the state against tubercular cattle. Not long ago the university purchased a creamery at Verona, near here, and some of the milk collected there does not come from tested herds. All of this milk is pasteurized, which according to the university experts renders it safe and sanitary. The local milk dealers charge that the university authorities are "going back" on their anti-tuberculosis campaign. This is denied by the university people.

The university conducts a regular country creamery for demonstrating purposes. Not enough milk is obtained at the university farm for experimental purposes, and so milk from outside towns is shipped here. Usually the university has sold its products to citizens here, but the city now refuses to allow the university to sell pasteurized milk which does not come from tested herds.

WILL TRY RAIL MEN FOR REPAIR FRAUDS

Former Officers and Employees of Illinois Central Railroad Will Be Arraigned in Court Monday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., June 1.—After a lapse of a year and a half since they were indicted, Frank D. Harriman, John M. Taylor and C. L. Ewing, former officers and employees of the Illinois Central Railroad, and Joseph E. Baker will be arraigned in court here on Monday to stand trial for conspiracy in connection with extensive frauds sold to have been practiced against the railroad. Through the padding of repair bills a total of $4,825,550, it is charged, was illegally taken from the Illinois Central by the four men named, in company with several car building and equipping concerns, which also were mentioned in the indictments. Harriman formerly was general manager of the Illinois Central, Taylor was general storekeeper and Ewing was general superintendent. At the time the alleged repair bill padding was done Baker was superintendent of machinery.

HOLD GENERAL ELECTION IN BELGIUM TOMORROW.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Brussels, June 1.—The campaign for the general election for the Chamber of Deputies, which takes place tomorrow, closed today with the newspapers. A flood of leaflets has also been sent through the post. The interest in the elections, judging from the attendance at the final meetings and the space devoted to the campaign by the newspapers, is unusually keen. The combination of the Liberals and the Socialists against the Clericals has helped to make the fight a very bitter one. The chief demand of the Liberals and Socialists is for unrestricted general suffrage and obligatory education.

POPE SEVENTY-SEVEN YEARS OLD TOMORROW

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Rome, June 1.—The Pope will be seventy-seven years old tomorrow. He was born at Nicosia on June 2, 1835. In accordance with his wish the celebration of the day will be private. The greater part of the day he expects to spend in company with his sisters and a few specially invited of the faithful. In anticipation of the anniversary many addresses and telegrams of congratulation have been received at the Vatican from all parts of the world.

Bible Society Centenary.

Concord, N. H., June 1.—The New Hampshire Bible Society, organized in 1812, today began a three days' celebration of its centennial anniversary. Prominent among those on the program for addresses are Rev. Frederick B. Allen, secretary of the Massachusetts Bible Society; Rev. W. L. Haven, secretary of the American Bible Society, and Judge J. B. Gordon, Forbes, of St. John, N. B. vice-president of the British and Foreign Bible Society of London.

Retirement of Col. Conklin

Washington, D. C., June 1.—After more than thirty-one years' service Col. John Conklin of the Second Field Artillery was placed on the retired list of the army today on his own application. Col. Conklin is from New York and was graduated from the West Point academy. He was in the Cuban campaign in 1898, and took part in the battle of Santiago. He afterward served in the Philippines, and subsequently was stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

LAST PREFERENTIAL PRIMARY IN SOUTH DAKOTA ON TUESDAY

Campaign Just Closing Most Involved and Complicated in History of State—Thurs Cornered.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

SioUX Falls, S. D., June 1.—After the most involved and complicated campaign in the history of South Dakota, the state-wide primary election will be held Tuesday. At that time the voters will record their preference for nominees for the presidency, for the United States senate, for the governorship, for full state party tickets, for nominees for representatives in Congress and for minor offices.

South Dakota will be the last state in the presidential campaign to have a preferential primary. Taft, Roosevelt and LaFollette are entered in the Republican contest. There is no reason to believe that the situation here differs materially from that in Nebraska, Minnesota and other near-by states and the results are expected to be about the same. South Dakota was one of the original LaFollette states and it is considered possible that the Wisconsin senator may still muster sufficient strength to cut down the Roosevelt vote. On the Democratic side it is a fight between the supporters of Wilcox and Clark, with the chances of the Speaker materially strengthened by his recent successes elsewhere.

Unlike the most of the other states the presidential fight in South Dakota has been relegated to second place in public interest by the spirited contests for the United States senate, which have been running for months. The Republicans are wrought up over bitter quarrels, which at the same time have discouraged the Democrats to get into the fight in earnest and with the greatest hope for success that they have ever entertained.

Robert J. Gamble, whose successor in the senate will be named by the next legislature is a candidate for reelection. His opponents in the Republican party are Col. Melvin Griggs of Sioux Falls, R. O. Richards of Huron and Judge Thomas Sterling. The presidential question has been injected into the senatorial fight. Senator Gamble stands with the Taft Republicans. Col. Griggs is the leader of the Roosevelt forces in South Dakota, while Richards and Sterling lent their support to LaFollette.

Richard E. Pettigrew, who was elected to the United States senate some twenty years ago on the Republican ticket, but who later left the Republican party on account of its attitude on finance and trusts, is the unanimous choice of the Democrats for the seat of Senator Gamble.

The center of the Democratic fight revolves around the rival candidates of Edwin S. Johnson of Yankton, the South Dakota member of the Democratic National Committee, and P. F. Wickham of Alexandria, who are seeking the nomination for governor. Both men are strong among the Democrats of the state and the contest has become the keener with the brightening prospects that the Democrats may elect the governor next fall. Leomin S. Cull, Frank M. Byrne and George W. Egan are contending for the honor of heading the Republican state ticket.

Representatives Charles N. Burke and Eben W. Martin, both Republicans, are candidates for renomination and their friends predict that both will be successful, though both have opposition. In the new first congressional district two Republican candidates appear on the ticket. They are O. L. Brannon of Mitchell and C. H. Dillon of Yankton. Brannon is the regular Republican candidate, while Dillon is making the race as an independent Republican.

The Democrats, Prohibitionists and Socialists have candidates in each of the congressional districts. The Prohibitionists and Socialists also have candidates for governor and other state officers. The tickets of all four parties will be decided in the primaries next Tuesday.

AUTOMOBILES IN COLLISION ON SOUTH MAIN STREET

Ford Touring Car of William Finley Damaged When Struck by Bolit Machine Today.

The automobiles of William Finley of this city and H. I. Gunderson of Beloit collided on South Main street this afternoon near the corner of Court street, and as a result a front wheel on Mr. Finley's machine was broken, a lamp smashed, and the front axle sprung. The Bolit machine was not damaged. Mr. Finley was driving south on Main street when the accident occurred. When he was more than half way down the block from Milwaukee street, the Bolit machine came around the corner from Court street, running close to the left-hand side. Mr. Finley thought he was about to stop and did not turn out at once, but as soon as he saw that the Bolit auto held to the course he quickly turned out, killed his engine, and set his brakes. At the same time he held the Bolit driver turned out and the machines collided.

COMPLAIN OF CARELESSNESS OF AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS

Said to Endanger Lives of Blind School Pupils by Fast Driving in That Vicinity.

Complaint is being made that automobile drivers and motorcyclists are endangering the lives of the Blind Institute pupils by careless and fast driving on the roads leading past the institution, and also on its grounds. The blind pupils have not the ability to guard themselves as well as those with the use of all their faculties and greater precaution should be taken by motorists when in their vicinity.

AMERICANS IN HASTE TO LEAVE CHIHUAHUA

ALL FOREIGNERS IN NORTHERN PART OF MEXICO ARE REPORTED IN DANGER.

RECEIVE NEW WARNING

American Consul at Chihuahua Believed to Have Urged Americans to Vacate City at Once.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
El Paso, Texas, June 1.—Americans and other foreign residents are leaving the city of Chihuahua, the rebel zone in northern Mexico, as rapidly as train service will connect.

The warning from Washington several weeks ago for Americans to remove themselves from the scenes of the disturbances is believed to have been reiterated within the last three days through Marion Lotcher, American consul at Chihuahua.

Messengers who arrived on the special train from Chihuahua last night were agreed in their assertions today that even in the long period of desolation which Chihuahua suffered during the Madero revolution, no such business prospects existed for foreigners as are today spreading alarm through northern Mexico.

Though no overt act has been committed to indicate that the rebel officials would not be able to restrain the populace in anti-foreign outbreaks, the tone of the proclamation issued by rebel chiefs intimating that they might not be able to curb the passion of the people, has served to alarm the foreign colony into wholesale flight.

The issuance of fiat money by the rebel government has come as the last straw in the business fabrics of the city of Chihuahua. Merchants fear they will be called upon to exchange good currency for the rebels' script created to fill the financial emergency of the rebel campaign. Principal among the grievances which the rebels have against the United States is the strict border patrol preventing the smuggling of ammunition.

COUNCIL INSPECTS APPROACH TO BRIDGE

Makes Examination Preliminary to Drawing up Agreement With Railway—Assess—for Improvements.

Mayor Fathers, Councilmen Cummings and Millmore, and City Engineer Kerch made a tour of inspection in the patrol wagon this morning, the new Patrolman Harry Smith, driving. The party first visited the west bank approach to the Machine street bridge and walked over the belt line track crossing it, with the intention of thoroughly acquainting themselves with conditions before drawing up an agreement to be submitted to the Chicago & Northwestern Railway. This agreement will be submitted as soon as possible, as the Council want to have no time in having the grade raised and the approach made passable for traffic.

KANSAS CITY STREET RAILWAY WILL TAKE VOTE ON SMOKING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Kansas City, Mo., June 1.—To decide whether they will allow smoking in the street cars in Kansas City the Metropolitan Street Ry. Co. began today the voting of all paying passengers. Each car held a ballot box. The voting will last for a week and at the end of that time the wishes of the riders will be made known. The company has decided to abide by the votes.

For years no smoking has been allowed on the street cars here but recently the common council repealed the ordinance that prohibits smoking on the street cars. The company refused to obey the order.

OLDEST ENGLISH PENSIONER DIES IN CHICAGO TODAY.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Ill., June 1.—Patrick Webb, ninety-nine years old, father of Thos. J. Webb died today after a three weeks' illness. He was born in Ireland in 1813. During the Crimean War he was drill master and went with the light brigade "Into the jaws of death" which made it famous. He had the honor also of having reached the rank of color sergeant in his regiment.

To Try Man-Power Flights.

Paris, June 1.—An interesting competition will be held in Paris tomorrow, with the object of demonstrating whether man can fly by his own efforts without the aid of a motor. It is suggested that a propeller may be driven by pedalling, as in a cycle, or that some form of cycle may be fitted with planes. A prize of $2,000 will be awarded to the first person who flies 33 feet with his own power. A further prize of $20,000 is offered for a man-power flight from Paris to Versailles, a distance of seven miles.

WRITES OF AFFAIRS IN ISLAND OF CUBA

PRESENT AGITATION MAKES ACCOUNT OF CONDITIONS THERE INTERESTING.

CAUSE FOR REBELLION

Race Problem is One Important Factor in Troubles Which Are Approaching Active Warfare.

(By Leslie Bookout.)

Cuba is again to the front with a rebellion and as this time is to be a chronic condition in that country it seems to be only a question of time until the United States will intervene and take permanent possession.

Cuba is blessed with its great natural resources as any part of the American continent. There could not be found a more fertile soil and her mountains are rich in mineral deposits. Nature has indeed been lavish with her gifts all over this island. Her geographical location makes it possible for her to become a considerable factor in the world's commerce. With all these natural advantages why should the inhabitants war among themselves? It seems to be a habit with the Latin-Americans to be continually fighting like two dogs over a bone.

What is this "Bone of Contention"? What is a Cuban? A satisfactory answer to this last question will very nearly answer the other.

To most people, no doubt, a Cuban is an inhabitant of the island of Cuba. To those familiar with the island, however, such is not the case. In fact, the better one knows the country and its people, the more difficult it is to tell just what a Cuban is. As in the United States, there are two distinct races in Cuba—the white and the black. The Spanish and negroes constitute almost the entire population. Unlike the United States, however, they are on a more equal footing socially.

Among the laboring classes the two races have intermarried freely which adds greatly to the complexity of the problem. The whole question is at the bottom a race question but owing to the intermingling of the races, the line cannot be sharply drawn.

The intermingling of the Spanish and negro races has not resulted beneficially to either but rather the opposite. It is this mixed race that we commonly refer to as Cuban, and which is largely responsible for the present as well as the past rebellions.

The rebellion is now caused by the Independent Party of Color. It is, as its name indicates, a political party for the colored people, and is following the tendency of the Latin Americans to take up arms against the party in power when they do not get just what they would like to have.

The rebels are not particular about the welfare of their country, and seem to care little about its future. Their favorite method of warfare is with the torch, and their greatest damage is done to those industries, the sugar plantations, mines and railroads which furnish employment to thousands of people throughout the island.

Owing to the physical conditions of the province of Oriente, where the rebellion is now strongest, escape is easy after these depredations, and capture is almost impossible.

What the Independent Party of Color really wants is a place in the government and a share of the government patronage. If some means could be devised whereby both parties could hold the reins of government, and the leaders of both parties could hold office with good salaries, having equal opportunities to distribute the political plums, it is safe to say that peace would last until there arose another party discontented with the present order of things.

OBITUARY.

Charles Crail. Services for Charles Crail will be held at the home, 202 South Jackson street, at 2:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. Spencer of Louisville will officiate. The remains will be taken to the cemetery in the town of Center for burial.

Miss May B. Higgins. The remains of Miss May B. Higgins, sister of Mrs. G. L. Traver of this city, were brought from Lansing, Mich., to Whitewater on Wednesday afternoon and were taken to the home of her brother, John Higgins. Funeral services were held Thursday morning from the Catholic church at Whitewater, Father Downs officiating.

Miss Higgins was thirty-eight years of age. She leaves to mourn her loss two sisters and three brothers: Mrs. G. L. Traver of this city; Mrs. William Masterson of Lima; John Higgins of Whitewater; Samuel Higgins of St. Paul, Minn.; and Patrick Higgins of Lima.

WHY WOMEN READ ADVERTISEMENTS

(By W. C. Keating.)

It is a fact undisputed that the women of this country expend 80 per cent of the family incomes.

It, too, is a fact that the average woman buys more with $15 than the average man does with $25.

There's a tendency on the part of men to buy what they want when they want it—to rush in, ask for it, pay for it and hurry out.

A woman, with a given sum to last a given time, thinks twice at least before she makes her purchases. Where she formerly visited several stores on a "shopping" tour and priced what she had decided to buy, she now sits down in a comfortable rocker, reads the "store news" of the various firms advertising in the Gazette, and seven times out of ten finds just what she wants in an "at home" shopping expedition which consumes but little time, saves the rush of a crowd, and she makes her purchases by phone. When she does go down town she goes straight to certain stores for certain goods, gets them, and as a result has no shopper's headache, isn't "tired to death," and has time for recreation.

Women read advertisements because this practice saves them time and money.

Twelve Greatest Inventions.

A Paris newspaper has been asking its readers to name the 12 greatest inventions. Over 400,000 coupons were sent in and the votes were cast in the following order: The locomotive, the potato, vaccine, the cure of rabies, sugar, electric telegraph, matches, the boiler of a steam engine, the telephone, petrol, the sewing machine and soap.

And She an Old Maid.

"I sat in the front seat of the car with nine men," said the old maid, "four in the same seat, five facing me. I paid my fare with a dime and the conductor said: 'Two?' I wonder which of those men he thought I was going to pay for?"

Chief Cause for Thankfulness.

There was a good deal of sound human nature in the unexpected reply of the dying old woman to her minister's leading question: "Here at the end of a long life, which of the Lord's mercies are you most thankful for?" Her eyes brightened as she answered: "My victims."

High School Commencement Exercises Close With Elaborate Affair at Hotel Carlton.

Edgerton, June 1.—The annual alumni banquet and reception of the Edgerton High School was held last night at the Carlton Hotel and proved one of the grandest and most brilliant of the kind in the history of these societies.

The dining room was most tastefully decorated for the occasion and the banquet hall was laid with covers for one hundred and twenty-five. A three course spread prepared by Landford Guttery was served and had been one of the finest the society ever had the occasion to partake of. Mrs. Margaret Atoney acted as toast mistress and the toasts were responded to as follows:

Crocius..... T. A. Clarke

Bleeding Heart, Max Henderson

Harp Solo..... Miss Lucile Clifton

Word of Greeting.....

.....Mrs. Josie Craft-Haugh

Vocal, Duet Misses Norman Hargraves, Helen Coon.

Forget-me-not..... Earl MacInula

Violin Solo.....Miss Nellie Bentley

Jack-in-the-Pulpit.....Prof. F. O. Holt

Music during the banquet and program was rendered by the Misses Hazel Sweeney, Lucile Clifton and Kathleen Clifton on the piano, harp and violin.

Following the banquet a business meeting was held and officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

President, L. J. Dickinson; Vice-President, Miss Leo Thompson; Secretary, Miss Blanch Shumway; Treasurer, Mrs. Fred Smith; The class song was the closing number of the program, being "Blessed be the Tin that Blinks."

This banquet will be noted in the history of the association as one of the most pleasant gatherings ever held.

Confirmation Services.

At the Norwegian Lutheran church Sunday morning Rev. J. Linnestad will conduct confirmation services. The class consists of ten in number as follows: Minnie Hanson, Gertrude Markoe, Ella Stanko, Inga Hanson, Hilda Rosebom, Ella Simne, Seth Adolphsen, Arthur Bakke, Bernhard Otto, Alfred Therk.

Andrew Johnson, president of the Tobacco Exchange bank, was in Milwaukee yesterday on business.

W. T. Pomeroy was at Madison yesterday attending the funeral of Henry Rudlund.

Rev. R. W. Roberts, formerly pastor of the Congregational church here, now of South Plora, S. D., arrived in the city this morning and will remain over Sunday.

Mrs. Orrin Pomeroy arrived home yesterday, having spent the winter in Boulder, Colorado.

Martha Magnuson yesterday sold his residence property in the third ward, consisting of a house and two and one-half lots, to Walter Parks for the sum of $1,600.

Mrs. P. H. Donovan of Harland, Minn., has arrived on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morrissey and attended the annual alumni banquet and reception of the Edgerton high school held last night. Mrs. Donovan is accompanied by her two daughters and will remain two or three weeks.

Paris, the Paris tailor, particularly avoids everything that might seem tight, stiff or skimpy; he has a horror of the corset that compresses the shape and will only wear of supple sheaths permitting stuffs to be draped so as to preserve the lines and natural movements of the female figure. The above is one of Paris's models, which shows an amusing arrangement of the skirt.

52 PER CENT., FLAGG AND HIS OUTFIT

A considerable part of the investment world who are always looking for impossible interest returns and fabulous increase in values, were startled a short time ago when it was announced that one Jared Flagg of New York, who was turning out sold bricks at the rate of two every twenty-four hours had been closed in on by the U. S. government authorities. The "scam" was given public interest, because the Hon. Daniel J. Morgan, a former treasurer of the United States, and the illustrious business asset of the firm had been caught in the drut net. Flagg was the prince of the clan whom somebody has described as "the man who wanted to float fleets of securities on oceans of water, who sought to sell blue sky, who wanted to reap where he had not sown, and to eat bread in the sweat of other men's brows."

For three years this concern has been separating men and women from the substance and giving them the shadow. The wonder is that people in the face of all experience, are willing to dump their earnings into the hopper of promise. The safety of savings is in character and security, the character and security offered you by some safe bond or farm mortgage that pays 4 to 6 per cent, rather than the chimerical 52 per cent puff ball.

THREE TIED IN THE HANDICAP TOURNEY

To Play 'Off' for 'Prize' for the Memorial Day Contest at the Mississippi Golf Club.

F. B. Holmes, A. J. Harris and S. D. Tallman, are tied with a score of 82 net for the special prize offer by the games committee of the Mississippi Golf club for the Memorial day handicap tournament. They will have to play off sometime before next Tuesday when the prizes will be awarded at the club house at the conclusion of the regular Tuesday evening entertainment.

Entertainment committee chairman Kenneth Joffis announces that on Tuesday next there will be a Leap Year bridge game. Mrs. Vera Lelington has charge of the affair and will dispense the prizes to the winners which are said to be very elaborate. A nominal charge will be made for each couple playing.

The following is the official score for last Thursday's handicap match: F. B. Holmes, 101—18 net 83. A. J. Harris, 101—18 net 83. S. D. Tallman, 80—0 net 83. J. L. Wilcox, 91—7 net 81. E. Hagaman, 90—10 net 80. R. Schaller, 87—0 net 87. A. L. Sheldon, 112—16 net 87. F. J. Baker, 90—8 net 88. C. H. Gingo, 102—14 net 88. J. P. Baker, 90—8 net 88. F. F. Lewis, 110—22 net 88. H. F. Biles, 120—32 net 88. H. B. Hagaman, 107—18 net 89. F. C. Grant, 65—0 net 89. W. G. Wheeler, 111—22 net 89. K. H. Joffis, 111—24 net 90. H. E. McCoy, 100—10 net 90. Wilcox Lane, 90—0 net 90. Lou Brownell, 98—7 net 91. Wm. Blanton, 114—22 net 92.

Those scores will be used for making up the team of the various "Gents," and this interesting contest will start as soon as the teams are arranged. Mr. Baker has a supply of the "Gents" which can be obtained by the members for use and it promises to be an amusing and interesting summer contest.

According to the agreement, the "Gent" challenged must give a game to his challenger within a week or forfeit his "Gent" and take the other man's place in the team lower down. At the end of the summer the player having the most "Gents" will be awarded the "Gent Cup" which will be a handsome trophy.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Jack Hendricks' Denver team, winner of the Western League pennant last season, is out in front and going strong.

President Charles Somers, of the Cleveland Club, says that Larry Taylor will not be back in the team before July 1.

Bill Bergen, who used to backstop for the Brooklyn Superbas, is working behind the plate for Jack Dunn's Baltimore team.

"Stoney" McMillan, the former St. Louis-Minneapolis pitcher, has signed with John McCloskey's Ogden team of the Union Association.

Jimmy Callahan's Chicago White Sox made a grand cleaning during their eastern tour, winning eleven and losing but three games.

The Giants claim that Babe Marquard is the first National League pitcher ever to beat every other club in the league before taking the count.

If Johnson, Groom and Hughes can keep up their good work, there should be no trouble for the Washington team to stick in the first division.

In the last twenty-five times that Christy Matheson has faced the Cincinnati Reds he has been returned victorious on twenty-three occasions.

This slug-over-the-top stuff of Ty Cobb seems to have pleased the fans and the Georgia Peach will no doubt be a big drawing card in the future.

With the exception of its pitching staff the St. Louis Browns look to be a pretty good outfit. The flingers have not been able to produce the goods.

The Birmingham and Mobile teams are showing the way in the Southern League. Pitcher Demaree, of the Mobile team, has won eight straight games since the opening of the season.

Pitcher Hugh Bennett, of the Boston Red Sox, has downed Connie Mack's world champion team three times in succession.

Eight different nationalities are represented on the Houghton (Mich.) team. The members are: Guido Minnucci, Italian; Ed. Hiltunen, Finnish; Stephen Austin, American; Louis Jacob, Jew; David Verville, French Canadian; Fred Bonchaine, French Canadian; Hjalmar Anderson, Norwegian; William Polgraze, Cornishman and William Finnegan, Irish. The sons of Erin have not disappeared from the ball field entirely as Finnegan got in just in time.

TEAMS ARE PLAYING FIRST GAMES TODAY

Commercial League Series Opens With Two Doubleheaders This Afternoon.

With weather conditions favorable and with the teams confident of their abilities, the first games in the fourth season's race for the city championship in the Commercial league were played at the fair grounds and Athletic park this afternoon. There were two doubleheaders at each park and good sized crowds of enthusiastic fans were on hand to cheer their favorites.

At Athletic park the first game was scheduled between the Hanson cabinet-makers and the Machine company nine. The Y. M. C. A. and C. & N. W. ball experts were the principals in the second contest.

At the fair grounds the Recorder nine met the Lewis Knitting company's heavy hitters in the first game, and the Gazette nine met the Parker Pen team, last year's champions, in the second game.

At a meeting of the players of the Y. M. C. A. nine last evening they elected Louis Michelson to pilot the team this season.

CUBS WON A FAST GAME FROM ATHLETICS THURSDAY.

Honors went to the Cubs in their game with the Athletics Thursday afternoon by the score of 7 to 4. This is the second of three games which the Cubs have won from their opponents. Teams lined-up as follows: Athletics: J. Cochrane, c; Cassidy, p; W. Griffin, 1b; Butler, ss; F. Hayes, 2b; H. Lake, 3b; Hunt, lf; Stead, cf; C. Butler, rf.

JANSVILLE CARDINALS PLAY IN DELOIT TOMORROW.

Meet Golden Eagle Team Which Defeated Them in Game Earlier in Season.

The Jansville Cardinals will try conclusions with the Deloit Golden Eagles at Deloit tomorrow afternoon. The Cardinals have been beaten once by them, but it was not superior play, but just bad luck. In the first inning the home boys could not do anything, but after that they made the Eagles play as they never played before. Connell Jansville wonder will go on the mound for the Cardinals. The lineup will be as follows:

Wilson, c; Connell, p; J. Ryan, ss; Connors, 1b; Cronin, 2b; H. Ryan, 3b; Korst, lf; Kelly, cf; Byrne, rf.

TIGERS GIVE CANNON-BALL STOPPERS HARD DRUCCING.

Defeat Them in Game of Base Ball by Score of 14 to 0 Recover from Previous Defeat.

Although defeated in game Memorial day, the Tigers came back good and strong yesterday, defeating the Cannon Ball Stoppers at the Fair grounds by a score of 14 to 0. Cronin, the pretty little catcher of the losers, was hit in the second inning. The lineup was:

Tigers—H. Jones, catch; Blivell, pitcher; Hend, short stop; Bennett, 1st base; M. Jones, 2nd base; Drew, 3rd base; Mooney, right field; Berg, center field.

Cannon Ball Stoppers—Crank and Sloan, catch; Hughes and Brown, pitcher; Brown and Hughes, short stop; Shawson, 1st base; Magee, 2nd base; Skelly, right field; Rich, center field.

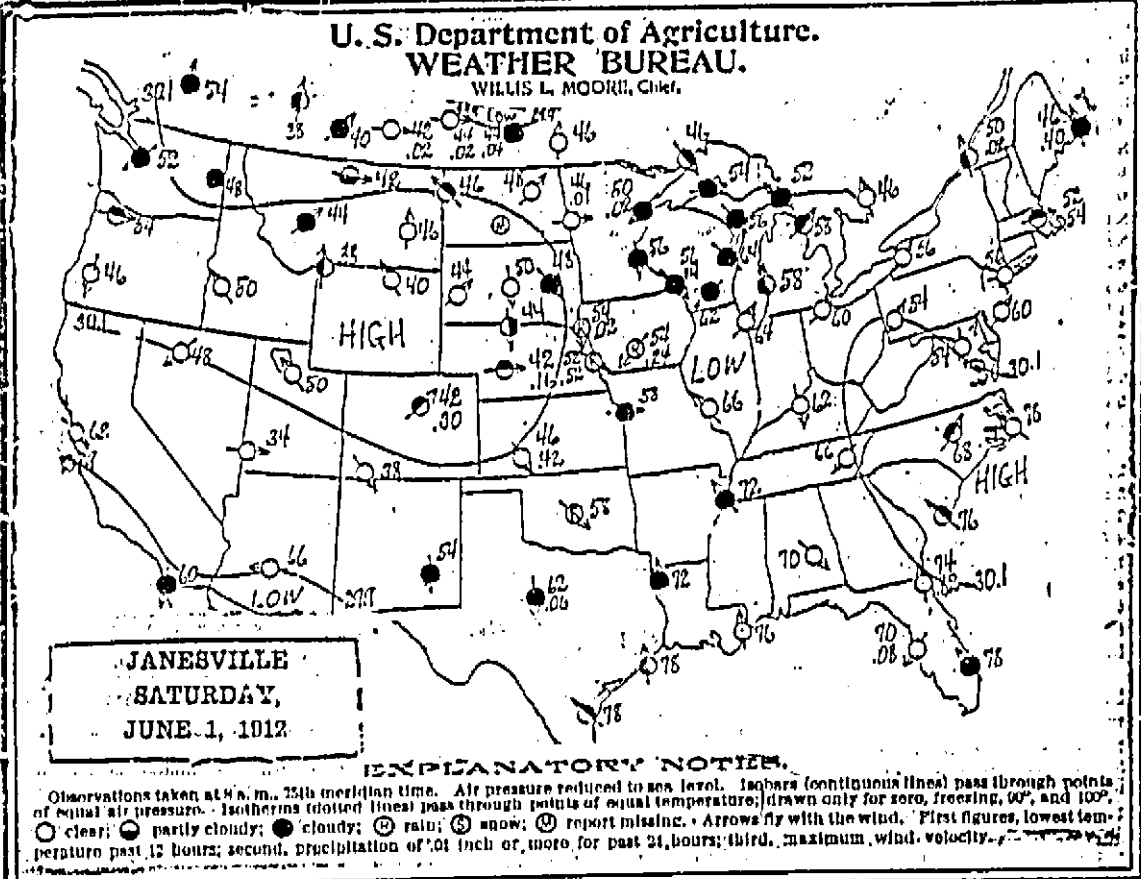

The Tigers challenge any team under sixteen years in or out of Jansville. They have won seven games and lost three this season.

WITH THE BOXERS.

Tim Hurst has been succeeded by Billy Gibson as manager of the Garden A. C. of New York.

A battle between Mike Gibbons and George Carpenter would show how clever the French champion really is. Jim Flynn says he will watch in the neighborhood of 200 persons when he meets Champion Jack Johnson July 1, in Las Vegas.

Somewhere, A man may be absolutely impossible, but somewhere there is some woman who doesn't think so.

The atmospheric pressure is low over Canada, and a trough of low pressure extends from the Lake regions to Texas. Cloudiness and local showers and thunderstorms mark these regions of barometric depression. Fair weather prevails throughout the East, and Southeast, and in the region west of the Rockies, where the barometer is above normal. High temperatures prevailed yesterday in the South and Southwest.

In this vicinity conditions are favorable for showers and thunderstorms this afternoon and tonight. It will be cooler tonight. Sunday will be fair. Moderate variable winds will prevail.

Two Parties Worth Watching.

Always keep your wits about you when dealing with a man who doesn't talk. Likewise, beware of the one with a velvety voice.

MAN COUGHS AND BREAKS RIBS.

After a frightful coughing spell a man in Neenah, Wis., felt terrible pains in his side and his doctor found two ribs had been broken. What agony Dr. Kling's New Discovery would have saved him. A few teaspoonful ends a late cough, while persistent use routs obstinate coughs, expels asthmatic colds or bronchitis, sore lungs. "I feel sure it's a God-send to humanity," writes Mrs. J. M. Morton, Columbus, Mo., "for I believe I would have consumption today if I had not used this great remedy." It's guaranteed to satisfy, and you can get a free trial bottle or 50-cent or $1.00 size at People's Drug Co.

Flames From the Sea.

Strollers along the Esplanade at Oban, Argyllshire, Scotland, the other night were met by an unwelcome spectacle. Opposite the Alexandra Hotel great tongues of white flames were seen leaping straight out of the sea not far from the beach. The phenomenon continued for about an hour, and drew a large crowd of onlookers, who speculated freely as to the cause. Stones were thrown in upon the flames, but had no effect. No conclusive solution of the mystery could be offered, but it is explained that the apparently strange occurrence was due to a quantity of hydro-carbon, which had been thrown into the sea.

Kept Secret Many Years.

After keeping his secret for 26 years, David Henry has informed W. B. Hancock of Altoona, Pa., that there is gold on the latter's farm on Brush mountain. Henry found the gold a quarter of a century ago when he was putting down a well, and determined to buy it, but he was unable to raise the money. Hancock will begin prospecting at once.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

"We all know people who never add anything to our fun, our information, our happiness, or our comfort. They are always trying to get something from us without giving anything in return. They are spongers that absorb, but give nothing back. When they leave us, we have a minus feeling, a consciousness of having lost something. On the other hand, we know people who always give more than they take from us; they are resourceful, suggestive, helpful; everything increases under their touch, for they are not trying to see how much they can get, but, instead, to give us something. They are optimists; they turn the best side of themselves to us, as pleasant things, and are helpful in their intercourse. They do not try to drain us dry; we have a plus feeling when they depart, a consciousness of having found something; they seem to leave a part of themselves with us. Like the rose, they bestow their fragrance and their beauty for us to think about after they are gone. Everybody loves the man or woman who leaves something behind—a pleasant memory, a helpful suggestion, or kind word. Nobody cares for the absorbent people who get everything they can and give nothing."

The sound philosophy expressed in this paragraph, from an unknown author, suggests two classes of people familiar to all of us. The people who help, and the people who hinder. The boy or girl, rewarded at the end of the month with a perfect standing in school, anticipates with pleasure the words of congratulation from the father and mother, and so, all through the early years of growth and development the "well done" is expected, and disappointment follows when the compliment is neglected. This is right for it develops self-confidence and encourages independence, the two qualities of mind which will be in constant demand on every lap of the journey ahead.

The first rude awakening comes to the boy and girl when they cross the threshold of the home and become active workers in the great university of life where hard knocks take the place of compliments, and where the best is not only expected, but rigidly demanded.

In this larger school where humanity struggles with humanity for a foothold and supremacy, the boy frequently waits a long time in vain for a word of encouragement, and the girl misses the home support and sympathy.

They are in the primary department of that universal college which all of us are compelled to enter, whether we will or not, and where personal responsibility and how we meet it, determines destiny. Experience soon discloses the fact that compliments are not a part of the daily program, and if at all observing the discovery is made that diplomas, in the way of advancement, are only issued on records of merit and ability. The justice of this iron-clad arrangement is sometimes questioned and organized labor attempts to set it aside by demanding equal pay and recognition for every toiler in the same line of work, regardless of ability. While temporary success may crown these efforts, they are always trouble-breeds, for the great law of compensation is based on justice to the individual, and his rights as a toiling unit.

Much discussion is going on nowadays about "special interests," and the masses are led to believe that they suffer because railroads and other public utilities corporations, enjoy some privileges denied to the average mortal. The notion prevails, to large extent, that when the railroads and other big business enterprises are making money that somebody must be losing it, and so we jump at the conclusion that we, the common people, are being oppressed.

This crazy notion is encouraged by agitators and reformers, by muckrakers and cheap politicians to advance their own interests. The most of us lack the ability to create a great industry or the capital to develop it. We enjoy the comforts and many of the luxuries of life because other men of larger brain blazed the trail and influenced capital to build the great highway.

It is human nature to envy this class of men and to find consolation in the thought that the opportunities of life are not very evenly distributed. This sort of reasoning develops unrest and encourages the doctrine of socialism.

We are inclined to overlook the important fact that the great rank and file of humanity is cast in an ordinary mold. It is just as reasonable to expect that all lawyers and doctors and preachers shall be great leaders in their several professions, as that all men in business and industrial life shall be great financiers.

It is just as natural for some men to be leaders as it is for the rest of us to follow, and for some men to be money-makers, as for the most of us to be spenders. Equal opportunity is a many-sided proposition. We are fortunate to live in a land and at a time in history, when the products of both brain and money are so widely distributed, for the most of us find employment through other people's investments, forgetful of the fact that the great philanthropists of today are the men who keep the world's machinery in motion.

But what has all this to do with the two classes of people introduced in the opening paragraph? Nothing! Except that many of us tramp far afield to find trouble, and are not content to study on through the shadows in the environment where our lot is cast.

The packers, the oil kings, the steel magnates and the great captains of industry, as well as the men just now applying to be president, are strangers of ours. They contribute to our comfort and amusement, and we can swear at them to our hearts' content for, like the weather, they never talk back. They are brother men, but the relationship is so distant that they never annoy us by dropping in for a meal. They are of the little world we occupy, but only remotely a part of it. The canopy which covers the average life stretches out but a few miles, in any direction, and the horizon which shuts us in is extremely limited; yet this little secluded spot is our home, the most sacred precinct on earth, because of the rare associations which it affords and the close ties of love and friendship which it develops.

The columns of every family newspaper are filled with neighborhood jottings, and the little scraps of gossip and daily happenings are more highly prized than any other class of news because they have to do with the home. To know that a man is a sponge, or that a woman is a mischief-maker, requires more than a casual acquaintance, but the people who live under the same canopy for a generation, know each other, and while they may be inclined to be charitable, yet they are familiar with human weakness and are seldom deceived.

Helpfulness like honesty, is a common virtue, and so we live in an atmosphere of good cheer because of the spirit of kindness which prevails. The sorrows and joys of our close surroundings become personal. This is why people who have passed middle life find it so difficult to adapt themselves to new environments. They are constantly reminded of the fact that there are no friends like the old friends.

Fortunate is the man or woman who graduates from the great university to the simple life, for this is the realm where optimism prevails, and where the best side of humanity is close to the surface, ready to lend a helping hand.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT
By Roy K. Moulton.

A Perfect Gentleman.
He doesn't smoke; he doesn't drink; He doesn't chew or swear.
His equal would be hard, I think To find most anywhere.
He doesn't stay out late at night. He doesn't fuss or fret.
When things do not come out just right.

He like you never met. He doesn't worry when his bills come due and he can't pay.
He's never troubled by the ill That follow meet every day.

He never speaks a sullen word, Or scolds his wife a bit; He doesn't mutter what's occurred, Or won't to blame for it.

He never plays the ponies and He doesn't like baseball. He doesn't care to take a hand In any game at all.

He doesn't roast the weather man, Or kick about his food; He doesn't slant the tariff plan In language that is rude.

He doesn't tear the roof off when He cannot find his shirt; He doesn't greet collector men With talk that's terse and curt.

He doesn't borrow lawnmowers or Forget to pay his tax, He never is in trouble for His methods are not lax.

His folks know right where his is at Each hour the livelong day; He never looks the alley cat Or drives the tramp away.

He doesn't make his neighbors mad By playing on a horn; A phonograph he never had To play from night till morn; He hasn't got a habit that The gossip can't explore.

He doesn't criticize the but The wife brings from the store. You may think that this is absurd, And doubt what I have said, But wait until the end you've heard, This gentleman is dead.

The Home Girl.
The golden age for women, they form, is at hand, Though just exactly what it is, is hard to understand. We've given ample warning that the time is coming when They're going to dominate the fields now occupied by men. They're getting into politics, and glory in the strife. They're cutting quite a figure in the realm of business life.

Now this may be the stylish thing, but it must be confessed That after all is said and done, we like the home girl best.

Her biscuits may not be the best ever made right on the start, Her pie crusts may together stick and may refuse to part.

Her corned beef hash may taste just like a stuff rug in distress, Her soup may be enough to make a criminal confess.

But still it makes a feller glad where ever he may roam, To think that this old-fashioned girl waits his arrival home.

Of course, you know, there's not a doubt that we like all the rest, But getting squarely down to facts, we like the home girl best.

Thank S.—We have carefully looked over the plans and blueprints of your invention, the Handy Keyhole. You have indeed accomplished something worth while. You say the key is magnetized and the brass counterfoil of the keyhole is also magnetized and no matter how dark the night or how unsteady the hand the keyhole is right there to meet the key wherever the key may hit the door. The key attracts the keyhole, but in order to sell this little appliance you've got to tell customers who are willing to admit certain things that most men deny. Therefore, we do not believe it will ever be a big paying venture. Take our advice and stick to the mouse traps. Anybody can sell newly invented mousetraps.

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE.

WHAT MADE HIM GREAT?
The celebration of Abraham Lincoln's birthday brought up the old query, "What made him great?"

Henry Watterson says in his lecture on Lincoln that the man was inspired just as Moses was inspired. Which sounds well, but is rather indefinite. Was it heredity, environment or will power that made Lincoln great?

He had something from heredity—a great mother—and something from environment—hardships, obstacles, opposition. But—

He also had much from his own strong will power, and his will power was shaped by his ideals. Where did he get his ideals?

Let's see.
When Nancy Hanks Lincoln was dying in that log cabin in Spencer county, Ind., she put her hand on the head of her wilderness boy, eight years of age, and said:

"I'm going away, my boy, but I want you to remember that your mother wants you to be a good and useful man."

There's the beginning of Lincoln's ideals.

How many times in his after life that boy felt upon his head the hand of his dying mother and heard her words we may not know, but we do know that in his boyish heart he made the high resolve to make his mother's dream of him come true, because he said:

"All I am in life I owe to my angel mother."

Quick, spirit of endurance, application, plus a mother's hand, made Lincoln great.

When Nancy Hanks Lincoln died Thomas Lincoln cut down a poplar tree and saved out by hand the lumber which he nailed together for her coffin.

Standing by the side of the grave when the form of that woman of the hazel eyes and melancholy face was lowered by the few neighbors stood Abraham Lincoln, hallooed, barefooted, frocked, ungaily, holding his little sister by the hand.

Sorry beginning for a great life?

Yes, but—
The sound of a voice that was still and the touch of a vanished hand helped to touch the ragged boy into what he afterward became.

A mother's hand, a mother's voice—don't forget to look for these in every life.

And Still They Grow:

The increase in our business during the past five months has been greater than our most sanguine expectations would have led us to anticipate. But we have a higher aim in our merchandising than per cent of increase — the past five months has established a confidence in these daily announcements, a dependence in our honesty of purpose; that is more gratifying to us and valued above dollars and cents. Many years ago we learned our lesson, that it was good store-keeping to advertise truthfully, to take our money to the home markets, to keep only the finest grades of merchandise and in obedience to the natural law of the survival of the fittest the Big Store has grown and grown — and we expect to justify still greater progress for the balance of the year 1912.

HALLEN'S CORPSE IS TAKEN TO ROCKFORD; INTERMENT TUESDAY

Wife and Father of Dead Man Brought Remains From Lansing For Burial in Illinois City.

Accompanied by his widow and sorrowing father, the mortal remains of Edward Hallen, the former Janesville policeman, who was shot and killed by Julia Lindley, alias Mrs. Vesta Jones, at Lansing, Mich., last Tuesday night, have been brought to Rockford for interment and will be buried there on Tuesday afternoon from Olson's undertaking room on Eighth street, near J. W. Johnson's office. The interment will be in the Scandinavian cemetery.

While in Lansing, Mrs. Hallen met and forgave Julia Lindley, with whom Hallen left Janesville, deserting his wife and child. The Lindley woman asked to see the wife of her victim and when confronted with each other both women burst out crying. Mrs. Hallen forgave the murderess her crime.

A Lansing dispatch tells of the meeting of the two women in the following manner:
"In death Edward Hallen of Rockford, Ill., still holds the affection of the wife he deserted for the vampire who shot and killed him when she learned that he was about to sever their illicit relations and return to the mother of his little daughter. A broken-hearted old lady, mourning the tragic death of his only son, while crouched on her cot at the city jail in Julia Lindley, the confessed slayer of the former Janesville policeman, delirious from grief, repeatedly proclaiming her love for the man she killed during a moment of frenzied jealousy, and pitifully crying for 'her Eddie' to come back to her."

"If I could only bring him back and know there would be nothing in the world to harm him, I would do willingly," she moaned when the police informed her that Hallen was dead.

"I loved him better than my life. He was the only one who ever gave me a single kind word. I hadn't much to live but I gave him all, and now I have killed him. Since I was a little girl my life has been a constant tragedy and the few months that we lived together were the only pleasant moments that I have ever known."

Julia Lindley, or Mrs. Vesta Jones, as she claimed her name to be in a confession to the police Wednesday afternoon, was giving vent to her grief in her cell in the city jail while another net of the drama was being enacted in the city morgue.

"Lending on the arm of the young man's dead father, her body shaking with convulsive sobs and crying in paroxysms of grief for 'Eddie' to open his eyes and speak to her was Mrs. Edward Hallen, the pretty young wife of the murdered man, standing close to the sombre black casket that sheltered the pale white face of the young husband and father, youth and old age mingled respectfully. The old and there within the gloomy chamber of death, the young girl expressed her love for the man who cut her aside for a woman of the streets. All the resentment which she bore had vanished at the sight of the pale, handsome face in the black coffin and she was only restrained from raising knees on the dead man's lips by her aged companion, who drew her aside and led her gently from the room.

"During the recess at the inquest, Julia Lindley asked that she be allowed to speak to Hallen's wife, Chief Bohrent complied with this strange request and took her into the adjoining room. It was the first time they had ever seen each other and after the formal introduction they eyed each other silently for a minute and then each burst forth into tears.

"I don't wish her any harm," said Mrs. Hallen. "Eddie is dead and the courts can't bring him back. I am sorry for Julia Lindley."

KITCHEN SHOWER FOR DR. WOLCOTT

Dr. F. G. Wolcott, Who is Soon to be Married, Guest of Honor at Merry Party Last Evening.

Dr. F. G. Wolcott, who is soon to be married to Miss Rhoda Dulla of Eau Claire, was given a kitchen shower last evening by his fellow boarders at the residence of Miss Minnie Hoffholt on Center street.

A four-course dinner was served at six o'clock, and afterwards, Hon. John M. Whitehead delivered a speech on "The Rolling Pin," a talk full of friendly advice for the prospective groom. Considerable merriment was enjoyed at Mr. Wolcott's expense while he was searching for the various kitchen utensils, which were hidden about the dining room. As each was found he was required to give the name of it. "The dining room was decorated for the occasion" in gala appointments. From the central chandelier, bright-colored streamers were draped to the sides of the table. The table was decked with bridal wreaths, and his chair was adorned with bridal wreaths and scarlet tulips. Lohengrin's Wedding March was played as he entered the dining room. The members of the party were Mrs. A. J. Ingerson, Mrs. Babler, the Misses Helen Vlyman, Lucile Cuyler, Olivo Hayward and Miss Lee, and the Messrs. F. G. Wolcott, Vosburg, Donald McMurray, Stephen Rogers, Oscar Larsen, and Hon. John M. Whitehead.

ORDER IMPROVEMENT OF MAGNOLIA AVENUE

Council at Adjourned Meeting Yesterday Afternoon Directed That Street be Graveled.

Magnolia avenue from the end of the macadam to the bottom of the grade was ordered improved with gravel at an adjourned meeting of the council yesterday afternoon. A petition was received from property owners on Jefferson street requesting that it be permanently improved with gravel. No other business of importance was brought before the meeting, and an ordinance authorizing the collection of garbage at the next meeting of the council Tuesday afternoon. A preliminary draft was submitted and discussed at an earlier meeting and the ordinance to be submitted Tuesday will probably be adopted without amendment.

Hatch, pastor of the First Baptist church at Beloit, in the presence of a small company of relatives and friends. Following the ceremony a three course wedding luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Antisdal left this evening for an extended honeymoon trip to the Minnesota lake region. They will be home to their friends on the farm owned by the groom's mother, near Afton, after July 1.

WILL GIVE FIREMEN REGULAR HOLIDAYS

Provision to Secure Them Privilege Now Enjoyed by Policemen Will Soon Be Made.

Firemen, in common with policemen, will within a short time be given the privilege of a regular day off. Final arrangements have not yet been made, but the council, Chief Klein, and the fire and police commissions have been considering the matter for some time, and definite action will probably be taken at the next meeting of the council. Since regular days off for policemen were announced many have suggested that the firemen be given a similar privilege, and the anticipation of this desire meets wide favor.

INTEREST CHURCHES IN PLAYGROUND NEED

PASTOR OF EVERY CHURCH IN CITY INVITED TO ATTEND
MEETING MONDAY.

TO DISCUSS CAMPAIGN

Each Pastor Requested to Bring Two Laymen—Progress Made in Efforts to Obtain Moving Pictures.

Pastors of every church in Janesville, both Protestant and Roman Catholic have been invited to attend a meeting at Library Hall next Monday evening, called for the purpose of organizing support for the playground movement, and to further plans for a mass meeting where the subject will be introduced to the public. Each pastor has been asked to bring with him two laymen, who are interested and other organizations may be requested to have representatives present.

One object of the meeting will be to interest the churches in the establishment of playgrounds in Janesville. Supervised playgrounds have been demonstrated to be such strong conservators of children's morals and preventatives of juvenile delinquency that they are entitled to recognition by the church and church workers for this if no other reason, and there are others. A number of the local clergymen are enthusiastic advocates of playgrounds and it is confidently expected that when the campaign to provide them is actually under way that all of them will be found active in its support, and enlisting the assistance of their church members.

Encouraging Progress.
The Rev. Father Henry Willman, who as corresponding secretary for the playground movement, has been attempting to secure entertaining and effective features for the mass meeting program, reports that he is meeting with much encouragement. The American Playground Association has mailed a list of attractive slides illustrating playgrounds and their activities, and the Russell Sage Foundation has given the names of companies who have motion picture films of a similar character. The date of the mass meeting will largely be determined by the time these features can be secured.

Edward J. Ward.
Edward J. Ward of the Extension Division of the University of Wisconsin, who has promised to give an address on playgrounds in this city is prominently mentioned in an article in the Saturday Evening Post, this week by Frederick C. Howe on "The Discovery of the Schoolhouse." Says Mr. Howe in opening his article:

"Edward J. Ward discovered the schoolhouse. He discovered it up in Rochester four years ago. He invited some of his neighbors into the school one evening to talk things over. So much interest was aroused that they came again. At the first meeting there were three hundred and fourteen people present. They had music, recitations, dances. They found their neighbors were very pleasant people. Soon the building would not hold all that came. It was amazing how hungrily the people took to the idea. They had not thought of the high school as their property. They thought it belonged to the Board of Education. Soon other buildings were opened. Finally the schools were federated into a city-wide organization representing more than fifty thousand citizens."

All the illustrations that accompany the article were from pictures taken by Mr. Ward.

Playgrounds and Festivals.
Over a thousand people witnessed the May festival in the Court House Park a week ago. Perhaps there is no other public entertainment feature that arouses so much community interest, gives such widespread and intimate pleasure as the annual May festival. The folk dances of the different nations strike a responsive chord in all those who claim them as their mother country, and the grace of the participants arouses parental pride.

Festivals such as celebrate the arrival of spring are one of the best known phases of playground activities. Children of all ages have a part in them, and are given valuable training in self-expression, grace of movement and cooperative and harmonious action. The Daily Journal of Lawrence, Kansas, gives an account in a recent issue of a play festival in that city. It says:

Kansas' Play Festival.
"The fondest hopes of those who had worked hard during the past few weeks were fully realized on Saturday afternoon, when the first children's play festival ever to be held in Lawrence was conducted. Every event showed the effect of the weeks of training and every event was in itself a monster success. It was a big day for the little folks and for the fond parents who crowded the park to see their children perform."

The little folks all dressed in pretty costumes met at the Quinby school and the procession marched to the Haskell Military Band, which played in the park. Some of them were in the costumes of the orientals, others were in plain white, and a group of little colored children were attired in sunflower costumes which were among the most unique ones seen. The festival was under the direction of the finance committee of the playgrounds committee. The play festival took in $213.14, and the expenses were $33.47, leaving the net amount in the hands of the treasurer, $179.67.

Children Show Interest.
Interest in playgrounds of a very practical kind has been exhibited at the Jefferson school where the boys have made and put up a trapeze and other simple apparatus with the consent and approval of the School Board. This action on the part of the children has been found helpful in a number of cities. In the Indianapolis public schools the plan was adopted two years ago of buying for the apparatus that could be used by the largest number of children with greatest benefit. As funds permitted, other pieces were added by purchase or by home building. Great strides were made first; one for boys and one for girls, and then for each.

Several basketballs were next in order, then tether ball, simple devices for high jumping and pole vaulting, not forgetting sand piles and teeter boards for the little ones. The equipment of these playgrounds was the work of each school. The school board did not appropriate money for this purpose but its mechanics set up the apparatus.

School Yard Apparatus.
"In school yards not primarily intended for playgrounds for general use, not a great deal of apparatus is required. There should be swings, teeter boards or ladders, or both, perhaps a giant slide; and where there are primary children, material for them to play with such as toys, building blocks, and a pile of box of sand. It is always advisable to have apparatus that can be fastened up out of the way or locked, or in some way kept from being used in other than designated hours. If the school yard is large enough to be a small playground or a part can be set off and fenced then any of the simpler playground apparatus is desirable."

Progress in Beloit.
Parker school is soon to inaugurate a campaign to secure money to equip a playground there. Discouraged by the success of Wright school which raised over $100 for equipping grounds, the Parker school children will soon start out to get contributions. According to present plans various methods will be tried to raise funds.

DAINTY FROCK IN EMBROIDERED VOILE

Here is a dainty frock developed in plain and embroidered voile. The skirt is cut with three scalloped ruffles scantily gathered and bound with silk. The bodice, cut with a long pointed peplum, is decorated with Valenciennes lace and insertion.

Caution's Choice.
"A man of your energy and talents should take an active part in politics." "No," replied Dustin Stax, "I prefer 'big business.' In politics when you decide to forget the details of a transaction some one is sure to pull a old scrap book on you."

Peculiarities of Greenland.
Greenland is green in more ways than one. Its wonderful miniature trees are a most beautiful green, and travelers declare no such color is found elsewhere in the world. Greenland is practically a great group of green mountains covered with ice that has a green tint and which has formed great ice-bound glaciers that are tied between the mountain ranges and can be penetrated only by a drill. Where the sun strikes with sufficient force the ice and snow let go and the glaciers, which are called "lives," often melt enough to slide and dash down the mountain, or drop with an awful force into the inlets. Very often such glaciers do a lot of damage to shipping that has sought shelter in bays or inlets. During the long night period the country is often illuminated with what we term northern lights, or aurora borealis. Without this electrical display the country would be wrapped in darkness of a peculiar density.

Do You Know Positively

That You Will Be Alive and Walking the Streets of Janesville Tomorrow

YOU DO NOT. You do not know that you ought not put off taking out life insurance any longer. You owe it to your family, you owe it to yourself, you owe it to your creditors.

WHEN YOU TAKE out a 20 payment policy with us you ARE NOT SPENDING YOUR MONEY. YOU ARE SAVING IT, for you get every penny paid back to you that you pay the company and you have the 20 years of protection free of cost to you.

Why do you buy life insurance from little fraternal companies that are here today and maybe gone tomorrow?

We have been 44 years on this corner. When you take out a policy with us it will mature with us. If your policy is not what you want we are here to make it right. Don't take out a policy with an agent who is here today and away tomorrow, but place it with us.

Can You Find Another Policy on Which Your Premiums Cease in Case of Total Disability?

Think what it means to you. If you have only been insured one year and should lose your eyesight. No more premiums to pay, and your policy goes right on keeping you insured for the full amount and pays you the cash at the end of 20 years, or if you prefer you can draw a portion of it each year.

Think What It Means--No More Premiums To Pay If You Are Disabled.

If the policy is in force one year, it is incontestable EXCEPT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF PREMIUMS.

Age 23	Years	Days	PREMIUM		Cash or Loan
			Annual	Semi-Annual
			$43.10	$22.41
			Quarterly	11.42
EXT. INST.
			Paid up Policy
			Pure End.
2	12	342	...	$ 88	$ 60
3	12	238	...	147	85
4	12	134	...	204	121

19	12	952	...	958	925
20	12	1000	...	1000	1000

Suppose you paid four years and then stopped; you would receive 16 years of $1000 insurance and $31 in cash at the end of that time; at 5 years you get 16 years' insurance and $107 cash, etc.

If the policy should lapse for non-payment of premiums it can be reinstated at any time within five years by paying the amount due with interest. If satisfactory evidence of insurability is furnished to the company.

Suppose you become totally disabled from sickness or accident, or become blind or if you lose both hands or both feet or one hand and one foot on payment of one year's premium, then your premium on this policy stops and the company pays you one-twentieth of the policy each year until the full sum of the policy has been paid, or pays all in one sum if you let it accumulate.

Suppose you become totally disabled from sickness or accident, or become blind or if you lose both hands or both feet or one hand and one foot on payment of one year's premium, then your premium on this policy stops and the company pays you one-twentieth of the policy each year until the full sum of the policy has been paid, or pays all in one sum if you let it accumulate.

Suppose you saved your money in a bank—you would get 3 to 5 per cent interest. If you put your money into this policy you share in the earnings of the company which last year in one of these 20-year endowment policies held by a Janesville resident amounted to over 15 per cent.

Freedom from Restrictions. The contract is free from conditions as to residence, occupation, travel or place of death.

Grace in Payment of Premiums. Grace of thirty-one days during which time the contract will remain in full force, will be allowed.

NO MAN CAN AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT INSURANCE

Think of the benefit it would be to wife and family or mother, if you should be called by death. Think of the great amount you would get all in one sum at the expiration of the policy, and then consider that it really costs you nothing except the interest on the money you would be saving. Read over the above carefully, see how you can borrow money on the policy, how it will carry itself, how you can be reinstated within five years if you should lapse.

INSURE YOUR WIFE

and make the $1000.00 payable to your child, you will be saving just that much money and all during the twenty years your wife is insured. Every rich man is insured heavily, every poor man needs it even more.

Many men are insured, but their wives are not, yet no man would insure one-half of his house and not the other. Insurance is as necessary on the mother of a family as on the father.

Now is the best time to consider this matter. Every day, every month you put it off you are getting older—your rate is getting higher and no one knows when it will be too late.

Life insurance is a privilege. If it is within your reach today secure it today—tomorrow may be with one of the strongest old line companies.

Days of the Old Wagon Shows Recalled By David W. Watt In Reminiscences of Early Circuses.

Janesville has always been especially interested in circuses and circuses at one time or another owned, or were employed by some of the large tent shows which traveled this country from end to end a few decades ago. Modern methods in business have practically eliminated the small circuses from the road and a giant trust, controlled by Wisconsin men, the Ringling Bros., now dominate the amusement world with their two big shows.

Demand for excitement has also done away with the old time one ring show, with the few clowns, who were genuinely funny, the daring baraback riders, the jumpers, who leaped over camels and elephants to make way for the "Leap of Death" the death defying trapeze work and other features heralded broadcast of the three ring two platform act of today.

Steam, and later electricity, long ago took the place of the more primitive method of locomotion by the pioneer circuses, which traveled by night overland, from town to town, their places of visitation not any further away than they could reach in a night's drive. Their routing was primarily compared with today's methods, where the cities which the big shows will exhibit in for the next season are all arranged for months in advance and railroad contracts let accordingly.

However the days of the old "wagon shows" are not forgotten. There are many older men here in Janesville who remember the delight they took in watching for the first wagon to reach the city in the early dawn, with tried horses, towed headed performers, riding on top of the wagons, the stately elephants, dignified and massive, gray with the dust of the road, camels lumbering along all, glad that the hours of travel were over and a few hours rest before the morning parade in store for them.

Burr Robbins, one of the old timers in the circus business, had his winter quarters here in those days and the departure of his show for its yearly pilgrimage through the country by the wagon route, and later by train was an event long waited by the youthful citizens. "Trouping" in those days was far different from circus work of today. Now the performers, and heads of the various departments, journey in style in palace sleeping cars. They dine on the fat of the land, the menu of the traveling hotel in connection with the circus, being under the direction of the most capable of chefs.

No more long hard journeys through rain or sleet, heat and dust, over rough roads and smooth, trying to sleep in a wagon or on top of one only to be routed out at daybreak to find quarters elsewhere until time for the morning parade. Eating, neatly standing up, from greasy tables, at lunch counters and enjoying it day after day, the folk season through. They were a different stripe, these early circus men and the tales they have to tell are like pages from an unknown history to the average citizen of today.

The days of the "wagon show" are past and almost forgotten. Today's monster amusement aggregation travels in state by the fastest of trains, instead of stopping at almost every town or city of size within a few miles of the last stand, they take long jumps of hundreds of miles sometimes clear across large states, in place of the one ring and menagerie, they have three rings, two platforms, an aerial stange and the big top of the tent full of myriads of trapezes. The old bare creek has given way to modern electricity. The latest device for saving labor is used but still the old life, the old spirit remains and once in the blood is hard to get out.

Among the former circus men who live in Janesville is David W. Watt. He began his life with the "White Tops" in the show business for many years, and would have been owner of one of the big shows but for an unfortunate court order relative to the sale of the Adam Foreman property. His story of life with the circus, from the days of the wagon show to the modern day steam express, are most interesting and he has consented to write some of his experiences for the Gazette readers in a special Saturday feature.

"It was early in the spring of '78 when I made my first contract to travel with a circus. It was the old Burr Robbins show, whose winter quarters were at Spring Brook on a field of 110 acres where all the buildings used in the circus were located. The old homestead stands there still.

On the east end of the lot was the animal house where all the elephants, camels and animals were wintered. Across Eastern avenue, on the south, was the big barn which held many hundred bushels of oats and corn and many tons of hay and straw for the use of the horses. To the west of that and on the same side of Eastern avenue stood the little office where all the business was transacted.

Across from the office was a large paint shop and adjoining that on the west was a large building. Here all the performers that were engaged for the season could practice for three or four weeks before the show started out.

"The officers of the show for that

"The officers of the show for that year were Burr Robbins, president; D. W. Watt, ticket agent and treasurer; T. B. Russell, privileged; he still resides here, Alexander, better known as Delavan boss hostler; A. R. Towles cook tent; Ed. Smith, who still resides in this city on Dodge street, boss canvasser; James Gibson was the property man; the then famous Mark family of which Minnie, Sally and Willie Marks were all riders; Ans Vangant, in those days was a jockey rider and as good as there was in the country and Molly Vangant, his wife was an accomplished trapeze woman.

"It took 150 head of horses to transport the show over the road with practically 35 drivers and 20 canvassers.

"Our first stand was Delavan, Wis., the second day of May which came on Monday. We made the drive to Delavan on Sunday and all the years that I have put in in the show business this one, my first, was the one of the most interesting to me.

"It was all new to me then and I paid more attention to the people and the towns, which all became of less interest as I grew more interested in the business.

"We went from Delavan to Elkhorn, 12th to Geneva, Geneva to Burlington, Burlington to Watkeshu, Watkeshu to Oconomowoc, and then zigzagged the state northwest till we finally crossed into Iowa. Here we took all of what were considered the better small towns in the state, some of the drives being long and one in particular going into Anamosa, Iowa, we lost seven horses which died on the way. After leaving Iowa we went to what was considered the far west for a wagon show which was Nebraska and Kansas.

"After getting to Nebraska our drivers often found it impossible to find towns closer together for several days our drives long and hard. We made our drives long and hard. We drove through Nebraska and Kansas, for I think, nine days, from county seat to county seat, one drive being 55 miles and showing twice a day. "On these long drives the second show would open at 7:30 in the evening and we would rush through an evening performance by 9:00 o'clock, when we would have what we called breakfast at half past nine at night and pull out for the next town.

"In driving into David City, a distance of 35 miles, we only passed one frame house, but many dug-outs. This was before there were any railroads in David City.

"Our house in the afternoon and evening was practically the same, people coming from as high as 50 miles in covered wagons and everybody that visited the show in the afternoon went again at night. There was no newspaper, no bill board, no lot or any license expenses. The show that day took in $1,700 with a local expense of less than $60.

"On the night that we drove into David City, Pete Conklin, a famous singing clown of those days, whose home was in St. Louis, rode with me in a covered wagon. About two in the night we were both asleep and the horse got out of the road. Pete woke up, found me asleep and grabbed the lines out of my hands. "I can hear him now saying, 'Somebody's got to get awake and tend to this driving. We're clear out of the road. Jump out and strike a match so we can find the road again.'

"Half asleep, I jumped over the wheel of the buggy and for a minute thought that I never would land. I finally struck on a little island and heard a voice from inside.

"What the matter out there? I was just passing by and thought I would drop in. He came out with a lantern and I explained the circumstances and told him who I was. Looking around, I was surprised to discover our team with Conklin in the buggy was on top of the hill, which was a dug-out in the side of a hill.

"The man proved to be a big hearted Westerner and told us that it was only 15 miles to David City and he guessed he would not go back to bed again as they were all going to David City to the show, and would come with us.

"After one of the most successful seasons in Burr Robbins history of the wagon show we closed the year at Oregon, Ill., on the 13th of Oct. From there we drove across the country to the winter quarters in Spring Brook and after paying off all the men and putting in many tons of hay and straw and hundred bushels of oats and corn for the winter, we still had several hundred dollars in the safe in the ticket wagon and about $300.00 banked for the season's work which was practically five months and a half.

"This ended my first year's work in the circus business and the most interesting of all the years that I put in and if this, my first attempt at giving out in Janesville to very early circus days in Janesville should interest you, I might later tell you something about the bigger shows that I was with and the larger cities which we showed in, from California to Maine."

The Home Beautiful

The Bungalow style of house is so desirable in many features that it is found to be constantly more popular. The opportunity for individuality is present to a greater degree than in the ordinary house and in the hands of the competent architect every comfort and convenience is readily supplied. We show a complete bungalow in our No. 53, note the generously large dining room connected by wide arch with the sun parlor making virtually one complete room 28 feet long.

The large open fireplace at the end makes the entire room cheerful and nothing could be more pleasant on a snappy spring day than the fire blazing in the fireplace at the one end and the bright sunlight streaming in at the other.

This home should have at least a 50 foot lot, in fact even a wider one would be appreciated. Plenty of light and the opportunity of thorough ventilation adds to the value of this style building. Can be built in brick or concrete at a slight advance over our architect's estimate.

DESIGN NO. 53

This is a one and a half story bungalow. Size 30 feet by 38 feet over all. The block foundation. Cellar under main part of house 6 feet 6 inches in the clear. Outside weather-boarded over shiplap and paper. First story 8 feet 6 inches; second 7 feet 6 inches. Slate roof. Plastering two coats, principal rooms finished in oak, balance in cypress. Good plumbing and hardware. House heated with hot air furnace. Combination fixtures for lighting.
Approximate cost to build in average locality, $2,850 to $3,000.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

The Wife Who Is a Buffer

I HAVE been a buffer between you and your mother for eighteen years," she said with spirit. "But now I'm going to quit."

She was a little, tired-looking woman, but she had called up enough grit to take a stand for better conditions in the home.

Her situation is not the only one of its kind in the country. Many another wife has played the part of buffer between husband and domestic troubles. Many a husband has been a buffer between his wife and the hardships of the world. How far is husband or wife called upon to be a buffer? How long should the condition endure?

This woman had sunk her individuality, her every personal ambition, to shield her husband from all the little petty annoyances of a home in which an exceedingly disagreeable mother-in-law had done all she could to make trouble. She was an exceedingly disagreeable woman before she was a mother-in-law. Being a mother-in-law had not brought out the capricious, petty, fault-finding traits that made her a thorn in the flesh wherever she went. None of the other in-laws would have her to live with them. But this little daughter-in-law had taken her in and stood bravely at her post of pouring oil on the troubled waters of the home, so that when the husband returned at night, everything should be peaceful and serene and apparently happy.

And he accepted this situation complacently. He knew the sort of woman his mother was. He could not help knowing that at times, she made his wife unhappy. But his motto was: "Let sleeping dogs lie." When he came home at night, he was tired. He wanted peace. And since he found peace, he didn't ask its price.

Without doubt, a wife should stand between her husband and many of the petty difficulties of the home-life, just as he stands between her and the hard problems of earning the living. But the danger is that both husband and wife may slip unconsciously into the attitude of letting the other endure too much. It is a habit that grows. It is pleasant to be sheltered and protected. And we may luxuriate in it to such an extent that we are unwilling to rouse, when we see the one who is providing us with this protection enduring more than is just.

Then again, it must be born in mind that though the man is nominally earning the living, the wife is doing her share in managing the home. Many an easy-going husband still cherishes the delusion that he is the worker, and that his wife has the easy end of the load. Therefore he looks upon it as his due, that all home difficulties shall be smoothed from his path. But in the marriage partnership, she is probably doing just as much as he; and though it is part of her work to smooth out the home difficulties, there may come a time when these make her end of the load the heaviest. And then he ought to turn in and shoulder his share.

Each is a buffer up to a certain point. But the eyes of love ought to be keen enough to see where interference is necessary and help needs to be given. Else it may come to the point, as in this case, where one or the other decides to stand it no longer. And when a feeling of rebellion, or a sense of injury, creeps in, the happiness of the home is in danger of being destroyed.

Barbara Boyd.

these vegetable arrows and shoot them up into the light. It requires three successive years to accomplish the result satisfactorily from a Luther Burbank standpoint.

The ancients, however, knew nothing about green peas. These dainty products of our kitchen gardens were allowed to blight unseen in their pods until the sixteenth century, when they were first cooked without being previously dried. Until that date our Christian ancestors ate their spring lamb without peas and without mint sauce. Ah! Let us be thankful we live in an age when marrows and early June and mint are universally appreciated. And by the way, always boil a sprig of mint with the cooking peas. It imparts a rare flavor.

Years ago Mr. Seward, Governor of New York, dined at the Graham House, a noted vegetable hotel. The dinner, of course, consisted of vegetables and fruit. When it was over he was asked how he liked it. "Very good," said the Governor, "for supper."

Man is carnivorous as well as herbivorous and if fed on a diet of green peas bankers after "the flesh pots of Egypt."

The Kitchen Cabinet

ALL WHAT would the world be to us if the children were no more? We should stand the desert behind us worse than the dark before.

LUNCHEON AND SUPPER DISHES.

A delicious dessert for luncheon or a supper cake is prepared by using small sponge cakes baked in gem pans cut open and filled with sweetened and flavored whipped cream. Squares of sponge cake may be used with the whipped cream on top.

A beautiful and dainty salad is strawberry and lettuce with mayonnaise. In a nest of blanched lettuce leaves arrange a few berries and a tablespoonful of mayonnaise made without using mustard.

For a variety, a poached egg on buttered toast, the butter to be mixed with anchovy paste, is a pleasant change.

Liver Soup.—Take a half pound of cold cooked liver and grind it in a meat chopper. Fry one onion sliced in two-tablespoonfuls of butter and add the liver. Add a cup of dry and sifted bread crumbs, season with salt, pepper and add a quart and a half of stock. Thicken with the yolk of egg after straining.

A delicious dessert and one that is simple and quickly prepared, is made as follows: Butter several slices of bread, lay in a baking dish and sprinkle over it a generous layer of fresh rhubarb, some sugar and another layer of buttered bread and rhubarb; add a little water and bake for a half hour. A meringue may be added to the pudding if desired to make it a little more dainty.

Fruit Soup.—Take two-thirds red raspberry juice and a third currant juice, sweeten and thicken with arrow root or cornstarch, and cool. Serve with shredded almonds.

Apple, pear or peach soup is delicious, the fruit put through a sieve, sweetened and thickened with arrow root.

Nellie Maxwell.

IF TOMORROW IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

You should make no compromise with evil and discussions or business dealings maintain calmness, for by anger you may turn away your good fortune that would otherwise fall to your lot.

These born Sunday, June 2nd, will lack in self control and should be taught to overcome anger or grief. Unless they acquire strength their lives may be unfortunate on account of their untrained actions.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt was talking to a reporter about an unsuccessful competitor at the Madison Square Garden Horse Show.

"He failed," said Mr. Vanderbilt, "and he deserved to fail. His ignorance of horses was incredible. It reminded me of an old farmer on my brother's farm."

"This old farmer, throwing down an agricultural journal, once said to me, with an oath,

"I don't believe, Mr. Vanderbilt, that the editor of this journal knows enough about farming to plant his feet in the road and raise a cloud of dust."

rich cream it is excellent. Lima beans well cooked were eaten with gusto by the great Napoleon, who liked them boiled to a pulpy mass and dressed with olive oil.

Wisely spoke Solomon when he said: "There is nothing new under the sun." repetition is the law of history.

Rome had broccoli, which is more delicate than the tenderest cabbage, and springtime was welcomed by Phly because it brought him fresh asparagus. In those days, we are told, three stems of Ravenna asparagus weighed a pound. The world conquerors seemed to have a thorough understanding of market gardening. Their radishes were so gentle, says the Hebrew record, that a fox could burrow in them and raise a lot of a half a dozen cubs with room to spare. The tale has a fishy flavor.

It requires careful cultivation to raise the asparagus now on our market, the large succulent stems of which the cucumber tribe are a mouthful. The earth requires to be stimulated with much ammonia before it is strong enough to mold

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

HOW TO HAVE SUCCESSFUL PARTIES.

"WELL, oh, why aren't my parties over real successes like Gretchen's?"

I waited a dejected hostess the morning after she had given a little function. "I work myself most to death to have everything just right, and still I know people don't enjoy themselves as they do at Gretchen's house, and she never takes half the trouble I do."

We all know that there are some homes where we always seem to have a good time, no matter how simple the fare or how commonplace the entertainment provided, and others where we do not have half the pleasure, even though the fare may be sumptuous and the entertainment most elaborate.

Now, why is it? What makes one party a success and another fail flat?

Well, for one thing, I think this dejected hostess put her finger on her chief mistake when she said she worked herself almost to death to make her party a success. Doubtless that was the very reason why it was never a success. A spite and spite house, an elaborate program and the most delicious fare will not counteract the depressing influence of a hostess who tries vainly to hide her anxiety and her weariness under a forced gaiety. Remember that you yourself are a part of your entertainment. The original idea of entertaining, an idea which has been buried under the clatter of our party, is that your guests come to see you. If you can bring cordiality and good cheer and a genuine gaiety to your guests, you will go a long way towards making your party a success. And you cannot do that if your feet ache and your nerves are frayed and you are thoroughly weary and dispirited because of your over-anxious efforts to have everything just so.

Again, don't forget that it's people that make a good time infinitely more than things. In other words, the prime requisite of a jolly party is a congenial crowd. Get a congenial crowd together; just let them talk, and feed them nothing but lemonade and cake, and they'll have a better time than an ungenial gathering fed with the most delicious fare and offered the most elaborate entertainment.

Be sure to have at least one of those folks who "make things go" on your list. Everybody has at least one or two such in his acquaintance. They may not be any cleverer or more popular than other people, but they happen to have that gift. Look over your list of guests to see if you have invited one of these folks, and if you haven't, get hold of one by hook or crook.

Be sure to have some game to begin with which will break up the ice; no matter how shy it is, so that it dispels the slight stiffness which even a crowd of congenial people are apt to feel, when they have been bidden to a formal gathering.

And that brings me to my last suggestion. Don't have your party a far and gathering. To my mind, formality is the deathblow to enjoyment, and I am delighted to realize that the formal party of the last decade is rapidly disappearing. Eleven-and-a-half and telephone invitations are the order of Twentieth Century hospitality, and for my part I hope the pendulum will never swing back in the other direction.

Heart and Home Problems

by MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married man, and do my best to keep out of trouble. Next door dwell three maiden ladies, the youngest being thirty-seven. They are constantly inviting me over to help make garden, or to look at the rose bushes, or some thing of the sort. It is hard to refuse their point-blank invitations, and while my wife does not say much, I can see she doesn't like it. Something must be done, or there may be trouble.

If you are really obliged to do something to avoid difficulties, why not keep about from the three ladies for a while? Have some important work to do when they wish to attract your attention.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have three girl cousins, sisters, in another town, and I visit them occasionally. There is a neighbor boy there who has known the girls a long while, but there is nothing more than friendship between them. On a recent visit he showed considerable attention to me, and my cousins seemed to be angry. They made the rest of my stay unpleasant, and told me unpleasant things about the young man, not serious, but showing they were jealous. Do you think it wise for me to go there again?

The situation you describe is an unpleasant one, to be sure. After a while your cousins may get over their displeasure. If I were you, I would take no notice of their conduct, but would wait for them to invite me before visiting them again.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I hate to carve a roast or a chicken, but my wife insists upon my doing it when we have company. I want to arbitrate the matter, and she consents to my putting it up to you. What do you think?

It is always unpleasant when the host, smiling, dainty, and gracefully does an expedition job of carving. A scowling, wrestling piece of work, attended by muttered remarks, is the reverse. If you cannot do better than the latter, why not turn the job over to your wife, or have the meat carved in the kitchen before it is brought to the table? The latter method is exceedingly informal, of course. Perhaps a man guest might relieve you of your duty.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: While riding on the train I noticed that there were no drinking cups at the water tank any more. Why is this?

The legislatures of many states have passed laws prohibiting public drinking cups as unsanitary. It is best to take a drinking cup with you when travelling. Collapsible cups are often sold on trains, and on some railroad paper cups may be had at penny-in-the-slot machines stationed near water coolers.

GET ACQUAINTED WITH YOUR WIFE.

"Women don't know how to clean homes," said the society man.

"This spring when my wife began to talk housecleaning and get that worried pucker between her eyebrows, I said to her:

"My dear," said I, "You let me boss this housecleaning job this time, I'll promise you I'll be done in a quarter of the time it usually takes, and we'll be happy while the work goes on. And what's more," says I, "I'll be on the job myself and see that things are properly done."

"I arranged to take a half day off at the office, to beat race? Not on your life, I rented a vacuum cleaner, and I got the kind with a hose attachment.

"The first thing I did when I got home, was to put on my old clothes. My wife had all the closets cleared out, as per instructions. I took that vacuum cleaner and ran the hose through all the closets, up and down the walls, around the backs of the pictures, over the upholstered furniture, the portieres and wherever there was any dust to be sucked up.

"Then I cleaned the carpets and rolled them up so the floors could be washed."

"That took a couple of hours. Meanwhile my wife was washing the china and bric-a-brac and such in the kitchen."

"After cleaning up the dust in the flat I brightened up the windows with a kerosene solution and plenty of old newspapers. That took another hour. After that I put on a pair of kneepads I'd previously made and I got down on my prayerbones and scrubbed that flat from the front door to the rear and rinsed off the back porch. That took two more hours."

"There was all the hard work done in five hours. The house was thoroughly cleaned, including the portieres and their contents, which my wife had attended to. All that remained was to put up the louvered curtains, roll up the winter sweaters, or cotons, by the cleaners, and then pack them away for the summer, all of which could be done without upsetting the regular regime."

"If I'd hired a woman to come and do what I did it would have taken her a week. She wouldn't have used her brain matter to the best advantage and she wouldn't have been strong enough to do it as I did. A hired man wouldn't have shown the same interest that I did for myself, either. And the best of it was that my wife and I actually enjoyed the whole thing. We had more than one laugh, and we kept up a running conversation that made us forget how hard we were working."

"Say—if husbands knew how much fun they could have helping their wives, and if they knew how much the wife would appreciate intelligent help, there'd be more husbands taking their physical culture right at home."

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

A warning is given you against designing persons. Avoiding giving or leading unless assured that it is deserved. Speculation or risks are bad. Those born today will be generous and spend money freely, but in disposition quarrelsome. They should learn to appreciate the kindness of their parents and friends. Plenty of outdoor exercise is needed.

Benjamin Shallcross, 209 B. River St. Janesville Wis. says: "Two years ago I had a great deal of trouble from inactive kidneys. The secretions from my kidneys contained sediment and were otherwise disordered. My back became so lame that it was difficult for me to stoop or lift and I became all run down. After using Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, these symptoms of kidney complaint disappeared and I enjoyed much better health. I could not be induced to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills were I not certain of their merits."

The Facts of Soap-Making

Some of you once used soft green soap in the old country. And nearly everybody knows by reputation the famous soft green soap which is a staple—sold like sugar and flour—in Northern Europe. For the first time you can now buy this same soap in America.

Old Country GREEN SOAP

is pure vegetable oils made into soap with pure electrolytic potash. Hard cake or so-called family laundry soap is usually made from second-grade tallow, packing-house grease and caustic soda lye, and "filled" with about 60 per cent rosin and 7 per cent minerals. The minerals are very injurious to the clothes, usually leaving them hard and gray or yellow. It is almost impossible to rinse out the rosin, especially from woollens.

We've preferred to use this space merely to give you a few inside facts. You will write your own recommendations of "Old Country." Get a 2 pound trial can today from your grocer. In bulk up to 25 pounds at 10 cents the pound and less. Test it today.

Dinner Stories

Pat O'Shaunnessy had been told by the doctor that he could live but a few hours, and his wife and assembled relatives and friends asked him whether there was one last wish he would like to have gratified? "There is," said Pat, "I'd like to hear the village band play once again." Accordingly the village band gathered. When at last it had played, "Say Au Revoir But Not Goodbye," and had taken its own departure, Mrs. O'Shaunnessy, kneeling at her husband's bedside, asked "Can you die any now, Pat?" "Yes," replied Pat, "I can die any now. Hell has nothing worse than that."

Old John Doory, once the billiard champion of the United States, a dozen times rich and poor again, a wit and man of intellect and good follow—the only man alive today who was an actual first-hand eye-witness of the assassination of President Lincoln—was sent to the poorhouse on Blackwell's Island recently to end his days, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times Star. Perhaps some large-hearted associate of his better days may save him from this final sorrow, but it isn't likely. John Doory's friends didn't stand the pace as well as he did. Most of them have long been dead. "I remember the first time I ever saw him," said Leander Richardson, the dramatic writer, "I was fighting a cigar in a Broadway

In the first months of spring, the epicure has abundant reason to thank the Great Provider for the April showers that not only bring May flowers but the kindly fruits of earth as well.

Vegetables are essential elements of good living and healthful as well as delicious. The Romans, who understood the principles of hygiene as well as we understand them, and applied them more rigidly than we do, regulated the use of fresh green foods by law. Citizens were compelled to temper their meat diet with vegetables enough to keep the blood cool, and it is said that many of the great Roman families derived their names from the enforcement of these laws, relating to vegetable foods. Lardons says it was the first food eaten by man, but this is not verified.

Of all the faba tribe the tender, succulent stringless green bean is the finest; steamed and dressed with butter, popper, salt and just a little

Rome had broccoli, which is more delicate than the tenderest cabbage, and springtime was welcomed by Phly because it brought him fresh asparagus. In those days, we are told, three stems of Ravenna asparagus weighed a pound. The world conquerors seemed to have a thorough understanding of market gardening. Their radishes were so gentle, says the Hebrew record, that a fox could burrow in them and raise a lot of a half a dozen cubs with room to spare. The tale has a fishy flavor.

Bake Your Bread

In Union Cookery Bags

OF COURSE you make good bread—the best that can be made in the ordinary way, with just a pan in the oven. And the more you can make your bread, the more you and your family are pleased with it. The things you desire in your loaf of bread are—the thin, crisp, light crust, evenly browned all over; the firm, consistent, yet light and porous inside of the loaf; and that quality which keeps the bread fresh the longest time after it is baked.

Now just think a minute. If the bread dries out too much in baking it becomes stale quickly. What will prevent the loaf from drying out too much in the oven? Why, Union Cookery Bags.

The intense heat thrown from the sides of the bag upon the bread, bakes the crust before the moisture has time to escape. Just as when you make French-fried potatoes. You drop the slices of raw potato quickly into the boiling grease. The surface is evenly and crisply brown all over in scarcely more than a moment. And the inside of the potato cooks thoroughly—soft and delicious without losing any of the nutrient or flavor.

The same way with bread baked in Union Cookery Bags. Prepare your bread in the usual way. Then put the pan holding the dough into the bag, seal the end of the bag with wire clips or pins and bake the length of time given in the Free Book of Directions. You will have the finest loaf that ever came out of an oven.

A Free Book—with many recipes, written from the experience of expert chefs in Europe and America—has just been published, telling you everything you want to know and exactly how to use Union Cookery Bags for cooking all foods. These books are on free distribution at the offices of this paper. Call and get your copy—just ask for the Paper Bag Cookery Book. Be sure to get this valuable Free Book.

Then go to your grocer, meat shop, hardware or stationery store—ask for Union Cookery Bags. The cost is only a quarter for a package of liberally assorted sizes. If no one of these dealers near you has Union Cookery Bags, insist that the one you trade with must shall get them for you immediately from his wholesale house.

Cook in Union Cookery Bags—save money, time and work—and enjoy the new wholesomeness and taste-fulness of foods, so cooked that they retain all their rich flavor and nutrient. Order a package of Union Cookery Bags of your dealer today.

These Union Cookery Bags are the same that have been demonstrated and used by the thousands of bakers and housewives who have won prizes at international and national exhibitions. They are made of the finest material and are guaranteed to give you the best results. Call at the office for a Free Copy of the Paper Bag Cookery Book.

ONE-THIRD OF FUND IS NOW SUBSCRIBED TO AID SCOUT CAMP

Members of The Council Receive Encouragement From Janesville Business Men And Expect To Raise Money As Planned.

(By G. L. Matlock.)

Friends of the Boy Scout movement in Janesville will be pleased to learn that the members of the scout council have solicited one third of the amount needed to insure the establishment of a summer camp for the boys and feel sure that the remainder is forthcoming. Business men were heartily in accord with the scout work and subscribed liberally as far as they have been visited. Nearly two hundred dollars are yet needed to complete the sum, however, which means forty contributions of five dollars each. Surely that is not too much to ask and there ought to be many more than forty persons in the city who have not subscribed that would be willing to add in such creditable work.

Any way wait until the members of the council come around. If you haven't a place of business in the downtown district, and feel able to give several dollars as an investment in the welfare of the Janesville boys, why wouldn't it be a good plan to notify any member of the scout council, Messrs. Henderson, Johnson, Atwood, Dougherty, Dr. Hart or Dr. Harkness? They will be pleased to add your contribution to the list.

Invited To Palmyra. Interest in the Janesville scout movement has kept beyond the local horizon. This is shown from an invitation to the scouts to take a hike this summer to Palmyra, Wis., extended by E. H. Holmstrom, formerly of this city, now in business in the Watworth country town and secretary of the Palmyra business club. In a letter to a local scout, enthusiastic Mr. Holmstrom says:

"Why not give the boys a little change, viz—leave Janesville in the morning, march as far as Lima; camp there and then march the next day to Palmyra, and camp here for a week or two. We have a beautiful little lake, water as clear as crystal, and splendid bathing. Fishing is good and the grounds for camping, if you would come up and look the ground over, I think you would find it an ideal place to camp, and it would arouse a great deal of interest in the work in this section."

This would certainly be a most delightful hike for the boys and prospects of attending a week or more in that beautiful country are most alluring. Whether or not such a thing would be possible for the local scouts with the council, it might involve the expenditure of a somewhat larger amount of money than they had planned for the summer camp, but the idea of several long hikes is an excellent one and will undoubtedly be adopted by the scout master who will have charge of the field work this summer.

Scouts and Home Work. It has been suggested that the prize home improvement contest which will be conducted by the Twelfth club this season, is an excellent opportunity for the scouts to show their enterprise and ability. There is no doubt that a large number of boys will be actively in the endeavor to make their homes and the city generally more attractive. Work along the lines of gardening and lawn improvement is shown by the following item taken from a recent scout bulletin:

Boy Scouts as Gardeners. "The boy scouts in Seattle, Washington, are active members of the Garden City Club. They are cleaning up and cultivating vacant lots in the city. They are turning the lots into flower gardens and vegetable plots and thereby earning money with which to buy tools and badges and to pay for their camping equipment. The boys go about the city hunting for vacant lots and when they find one they ask permission of the owner to clean it up and cultivate it. Once they get permission they report to the Garden City Club which cuts off the rubbish and plows and harrows the lot and supplies the seed. The boy scouts do the rest of the work. After they become first-class scouts they earn merit badges."

"The boy scouts in Carbondale, Ill., will have a garden contest this summer. The boys are to plant and cultivate not less than 144 square feet of ground, and to plant not less than six different varieties of vegetables or flowers, or both, and keep a record of planting, growth, method of culture and results. Three prizes are offered by the committee for the best gardens. The committee has secured through the influence of Congress man N. B. Thibault, packages of seeds from the Department of Agriculture in Washington for each Boy Scout. Directions for planting and growing these seeds are sent from the U. S. Department of Agriculture to the scouts and they are requested to report the result of their trial to that department. Each Scout has been furnished Circular No. 151, 'The Home Vegetable Garden,' by Prof. John W. Lloyd, of the Agricultural Experiment Station and State Agricultural College. About seventy-five boys have entered this contest, and it promises to be an interesting and lively one. Boys will be held to the minimum requirements only and can plant larger gardens, secure other seeds, and plant their gardens in any form they wish."

La Prairie, May 31.—Mrs. Charles Roberts died at the home of her brother-in-law, Chris. Priem, Tuesday, May 28th, after a lingering illness. She leaves a husband, a daughter seven years old, and an infant son six weeks old. Funeral services were held Friday at 10:00 a. m., at the Priem home and the remains shipped to Fond du Lac, her former home, for burial.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

THE JUNE BRIDE.

By Howard L. Hann.

The June bride is a providential visitation which enables the hard-pressed father of a large family to transport 140 pounds of orange blossoms and tulle veiling to the shoulders of an intrepid suit. Most people prefer to be married in June because at this season of the year both the military and the railroad are at a standstill. Through the stop-over privileges, at reduced rates, the departure of the bride is always accelerated by the unrelenting activity of admiring friends, who decorate the sleeping car with Louisiana rice, old shoes and neat placards bearing some very pretty advertising matter. Some June brides advise the traveling public of what has taken place by boarding the train in a white satin wedding dress and a coy look; while others escape notoriety by disguising themselves in dull willow-rod effects and a black air. The June bride is always an object of interest in the community. For weeks before the wedding the neighbors speculate on the cost of the trousseau, the specifications of the menu and the financial rating of the bridegroom's father. The friends of the bride give her a relay of parties, at which she is showered with table linen, kitchen utensils and the sage advice of those who have a lightning rod posted in some conspicuous place. The bridegroom is entertained at a festive function known as a stag dinner, which is featured by a very lively order of playful and personal comment, calculated to inspire reverence for the state of matrimony and put the recipient in a comfortable frame of mind. The hardest thing the June bride has to do is to resist the temptation to look back and see the problem of three meals a day without losing the sunshine of the marriage morn. That she is liable to do it at all is the highest tribute to her grit and the horse sense of her home training. The June bride who can gallop from one summer resort to another without wanting to keep it up the rest of her natural life makes a wife that improves upon acquaintance.

CLINTON MAN STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS FRIDAY

John Cooper, residing North of City, in Very Critical Condition.—Other Clinton Items. (Special to this Gazette.) Clinton, May 31.—Our people were shocked to hear yesterday afternoon that John Cooper, living three and one-half miles north of this town, suffered a stroke of paralysis and was in an exceedingly critical condition. Mr. Cooper had not been feeling well for the morning and had phoned to Dr. Thomas, making an appointment to meet him at his office, which he failed, however, to keep. He returned home, lay down on an old couch he had in the barn. When dinner was ready and he did not come Mrs. Cooper went to the barn to find him and found him unable to speak to her. Dr. Thomas was called and he discovered that the entire left side of Mr. Cooper was stricken. The unfortunate gentleman is one of our best known and most popular farmers.

Personal. Mrs. E. P. Benson, who has been ill for several days, is slowly improving. Master Roger Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hamilton, has been very sick for several days, but is slightly improved at this time. Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Milnor, Monday night, a boy. Charles Wolfe and wife, of Sharon, spent Tuesday here. Otto and Anton Encker have purchased a Flanders automobile. Misses Amy Peterson and Rachel Bonds spent Wednesday in Beloit. Mrs. Charles Thompson of Beloit was here Tuesday.

Venerable W. Irving Hartshorn is very sick. Dr. Woods of Janesville was called in consultation with Dr. Thomas. Anell Morrill Van Volzer spent Thursday in Delavan attending a family picnic. Misses Agnes Rosa of Chicago and Belle Ryan of Eldorado spent Tuesday here visiting their cousin, A. J. Bodon and wife. Palmer Hamilton came home Wednesday evening from the university. Francis Hughes came home Wednesday evening from Madison to remain until Sunday evening. Mrs. George Tuttle and children are visiting Mr. Tuttle's relatives here. Mrs. George Christian of Delavan spent Memorial day here.

William Wood of Delavan is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clithorne on South School street.

William Gates of Milton spent yesterday morning here decorating the grave of his father and mother. Charles Lee motored to Beloit Thursday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Penn Hastings and son, of Chicago, were here yesterday visiting Mr. Hastings' mother. Miss Edith Hanson of Chicago is visiting friends here.

Miss Belle Miller of Darion is visiting her mother and sister. Miss Ima Mason of Chicago spent Memorial day here with friends.

FORTY-SEVEN CASES FOR REGULAR TERM

June Term of Rock County Court Will be a Busy One With Large Number of Matters Scheduled.

Forty-seven cases are on the calendar for the June term of the probate court which will be called next Tuesday, June 4th. Matters to be settled at that time are as follows:

CONVENTION PLANS DISCUSSION TOPIC

Art League at Its Meeting Yesterday. Talked Over Entertainment of Wisconsin Women's Clubs.

Plans for the convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in Janesville next October, were discussed at the meeting of the Art League at a social and business meeting held in the Chelonia hall yesterday afternoon. The league also decided to hold four picnics during the summer. After the program and luncheon session light refreshments were served. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Ada Humphrey Penbury; vice president, Ada P. Kinkorby; recording secretary, Jessie Szumski; corresponding secretary, Nellie M. Brower; treasurer, Ellen P. Goodwin; auditor, Romonda M. Reynolds; historian, Louise Waddell, and librarian, Mary Dominick.

POINTERS FOR THE MOTORIST CARRYING SPARE VALVE PARTS, A REPAIR KIT INDISPENSIBLE.

It is always a good plan to carry a package of extra valve parts such as valve insides, valve caps, washers and dust caps, says the Michelin Tire expert. These can be bought for a few cents and are of fine value. The small rubber tipped valve insides, which fit exactly the valve proper, something like a cork, can be screwed out readily by inverting and inserting the notched valve cap and using it like a screw driver. When the valve inside is removed it is only the work of a moment to fit a new one.

A leaky tire valve is sometimes responsible for a fault blamed on a "slow puncture." When pumping up a tire if the pump handle comes up of itself after pushing down on the inflation stroke a leaky tire valve may be looked for. If the motorist carries a spare set of valve parts he is all right, but not so his less thoughtful neighbor who left his in the garage.

The motorist early in the season should provide himself with a good tire repair kit including a supply of Mastic, a can of cement of good quality, some minor tube patches in assorted sizes and a blow out or inside envelope patch. The red minor tube patches are generally conceded best. Those of pure para rubber, not containing fabric, the edges of which are beveled, are to be recommended.

LAUREAN SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

Miss Evelyn Kavelage Chosen For Ensuing School Year—Meeting Last This Term.

Officers for the ensuing school year were elected at the last regular meeting of the Laurean Society for this school term, held at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. Those elected to office were:

President—Evelyn Kavelage. Vice president—Alma Elford. Secretary—Florence Nuzum. Mistress of ceremonies—Margaret Jeffers. Social Committee—Elizabeth McManis, Marion Matheson, Dorothy MacLean. Standing Committee—Olga Roy, Nellie Ruth Soulmann, John Williams. Clerk—Lorene Bowerman.

When You Place Money on Interest You Want

- 1—Security as Sure as a Government Bond.
- 2—Highest Possible Interest.
- 3—Certainty of Getting Your Money Quickly If Necessary.

Then You Want Our—

Municipal Bonds

THESE Bonds are pledges given by a city or Town or County securing the payment of money borrowed, and the interest on this money.

These pledges, or Bonds, pledge irrevocably to those persons lending the money, all the public property and all the private property; the full faith, credit and resources of that community. They also convey to the holders of the Bonds a special Tax on all the public and private property of the community—this Tax is of the right amount to pay the interest each six months, and to set aside a certain part of the principal, so the full amount borrowed will be ready when the Bonds are due.

Our Municipal Bonds are Accepted by the U. S. Government as Security for the Deposits of its Postal Savings Banks—That Fact Stamps Them as Safe as U. S. Government Bonds.

Our Municipal Bonds pay 5% and 5½% interest. We occasionally have a few that pay 6% interest—but such a rate of interest is very hard to find in combination with the absolute safety which meets the standard of Government Bonds.

Our Municipal Bonds can be readily turned into cash at any time—and this is a most important point for the consideration of anyone intending to invest a large or small sum.

We are issuing a gift booklet giving a clear and simple explanation of Municipal Bonds. We will be glad to present you with one. It will interest and be valued by your wife and son and daughter, as well as by yourself.

Your Dollar Buys More

When you buy a Studebaker-E-M-F "30" or Studebaker-Flanders "20" you get more for your money, dollar for dollar, than in any other car built.

There may be other good cars—but what is their price? That's the rub. If they really are good cars, they necessarily cost more because comparatively few are built. Some poor cars, you know, are high priced too, so that the dealer can fool you by cutting the price. What a car is really worth, not what it costs, should be your standard.

The Studebaker Corporation has the largest and best automobile factories in the world. We could build and sell any competing car today for less money than its present price. In your Studebaker-E-M-F "30" or Flanders "20" you get full value, because the biggest factories and the best brains in the industry build these cars.

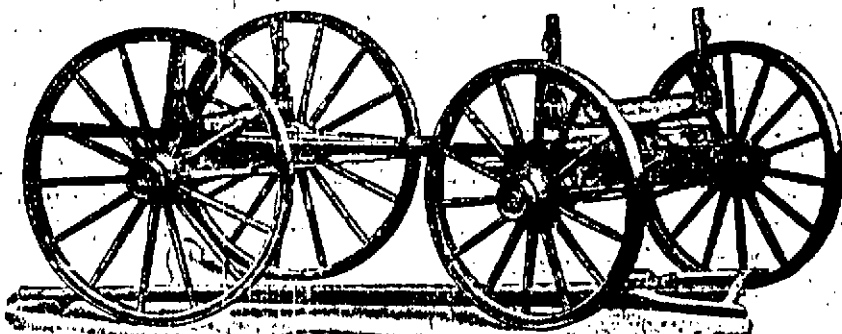

Studebaker-E-M-F "30" Touring Car, standard equipped, f.o.b. Detroit $1100. Equipped as above with Top, Windshield, Prest-O-Lite Tank and Speedometer, f.o.b. Detroit $1190.

Rock Island Special Farm Gear

A good, low-wheel gear with wide tires, is just as necessary on a farm as a regular wagon. It is not only a great convenience but can be used in farm work many times and places where a narrow-tire wagon can not.

The Rock Island Special Farm Gear

is not to be compared to the ordinary "Farm Truck" which is made from "culls" and second grade material not considered good enough to enter into the construction of a standard wagon.

The Rock Island Special Gear

is built from first class material bought especially for that purpose. It is built by good workmen in a well-equipped factory devoted entirely to its manufacture. All wood stock is carefully selected, seasoned and finished, and every effort made to produce a gear that is high grade in every particular.

A Brief History of the Twelfth Wisconsin Battery in the War

(By R. L. Miller.)

The complete history of the Twelfth Wisconsin Light Artillery Volunteers was compiled, would be an interesting document of the Civil War, as the battery took an important part in a number of big battles and did much for the Union cause during its three years of service. The record would also be an interesting account for the people of Janesville, as several of its members were recruited from this city in August, 1862, by Capt. E. G. Harlow, then a lieutenant in the army.

of Janesville, and quite a demonstration was given when the battery left. The men were driven up on the square, and the leave-taking there occupied an hour's time. They then marched to the depot and entered the train, the march being headed by the battery brass band, the mayor, common council, Suck company, Water Witch engine company No. 2, Rescue hook and ladder company, Washington engine company, No. 3, Captain Weimle's company of volunteers, and Captain Milmore's company of volunteers.

The officers of the company were: Captain, William Ziehrich; First Lieutenants, William Miles and E. G. Harlow; Second Lieutenants, William A. Hamilton, and Marcus Amundson. The men who left at that time were as follows: E. G. Harlow, Marcus Amundson, Orlin Hubbard, Daniel Shelly, Thomas Croft, Wheeler S. Bowen, L. D. Latzer, Alonzo Kibby, H. A. Robertson, S. G. Sloan, Owen E. Newton, Thomas H. Harrison, W. H. Palmer, D. R. Brand, Jerome H. Land, Frederick Miller, John T. Wilcox, C. Pogue, John H. Saunders, James M. Anderson, Charles A. Whitmarsh, S. C. Chomney, S. Edgerton, A. P. Glasscock, R. W. Borton, A. Ames, James Croft, S. H. Donnell, Henry T. Wright, W. V. Fox, Joseph Whitman, C. H. Brown, William H. C. Johnson, A. V. Wickoff, William H. Griffith, Sylvester St. John, Frank Wood, S. P. Dennin, John T. Norton, W. D. Hendraway, R. C. Constock, Rock, William Packham, Ellis Shipbell, D. L. Noggle, C. L. Noggle, William E. Ward, Henry Wingate, George Pierce, Samuel L. Day, D. B. Austin, H. B. Sexton, James Plympton, O. W. Wallace, J. W. Chase, Rock, Edwin B. Fish, Center, Alex. M. Russell, James Gray.

From here the battery went to Corinth where they joined General W. S. Hamilton's division from this state. Later twelve more recruits from this city, were enlisted in the battery, making seventy in all from Janesville, among the number being C. S. Jackson.

The battery was equipped with six guns, in addition to the other articles of equipment necessary. These were four ten-inch rifled Rodman guns, for long-range firing, effective at a distance of four miles, and particularly useful at a distance of two or three miles; and two brass Napoleons used for shooting canister at short range.

During its three years of service, the battery took part in a considerable number of engagements, participating in the battles of Vicksburg, Chattanooga, and Lookout Mountain, and went with Sherman on his march to Savannah.

Its most important engagement, however, and the one in which it suffered the greatest loss of men, was at the Pass of Allatoona, Ga., October 5, 1864. Here Gen. French, with a detachment from Gen. Hood's army, attacked the Union forces. On the outcome of the battle depended the question whether Sherman would make his march to the sea. There was only a small Union force at the pass, and Hood's army was advancing from the South, so Gen. Corse was signalled from Lookout Mountain by General Sherman to vacate Rome, Ga., and re-inforce the troops at Allatoona. The fire of the Wisconsin gunners here, this day, fell in favor of the Union army, and caused the Rebels to leave the field in confusion, leaving behind them two hundred prisoners, three stands of colors, and seven hundred small arms. Gen. Sherman, of the Rebel army, was severely wounded in this battle and several of General French's field officers were killed.

James E. Croft, one of the gunners of the Twelfth Battery took part in this battle, his place being the only one which, at the close of the battle was in working condition. He was wounded in the arm by a split shell, the missile twisting the arm out of joint. Congress rewarded him for his valor some twenty years afterward by presenting him with a medal, secured for him by some of his comrades who presented his record before the national legislature.

Regarding the battle and its outcome Mr. Croft spoke as follows: "The victory at Allatoona Pass saved the government about a million and a half in rations and other munitions of war, without which it is doubtful if Sherman could have made his march to the sea. Hood at that time was marching northward, from Marietta, Big Shanty and Block House, and if he had captured us, he could have continued on the road north, taking Cassville and a number of other places north of Allatoona. Allatoona Pass was one of the points of a triangle formed by Allatoona Pass, Kenesaw Mountain and Dallas Pass, and was the key to the situation. If he could have gobbled up the road, he would have kept on northward, but by defeating him we drove him back eighteen miles to Dallas and drove him off the road."

"The outcome of the battle hung on a mere thread. If we had been regulars we would have quit, but we were green, and didn't know when we were beaten, and a little strenuous effort won the day for us. The battle had commenced in the morning with an artillery duel, and then French's forces had come up the road and swung onto the railroad tracks. French's forces outnumbered our forces about five to one. He had about six or seven thousand men to eleven hundred on the Union side. Of those we lost nearly eight hundred."

"Our battery was divided into two sections with a railroad cut between the one I was in, and the others, but they could do us no good as the Rebels were advancing toward us. Hood had given us quite an artillery duel earlier in the day, but could not use his artillery to aid French, which was perhaps fortunate. As for us, there was no retreating. We were on the defensive and had to stay as long as the enemy stayed."

"The last of the battle occurred between three and four o'clock in the afternoon. On each side of the road were the Union rifle pits, occupied by the infantry, the pits running down the crown of a hill on the right side to the railroad and on the left side to the creek. The Rebels had encircled and captured the infantry, and what we did had to done quickly, as our boys were beginning to mingle with the Rebels. So we opened on them with canister, and it was the last few shots that saved us."

"I was in charge of the first and second gun of the three in our section, but the second and third guns were disabled, and mine was the only one working. The other gunners were killed or went away, and Robert Thurston, Ellis Shipbell, Sylvester St. John, "Gad" Sloan, and Sam Donnell, I think it was, were left to take charge of the piece. Burton was wounded, I was wounded, and Sam Donnell was killed right there. Some of the other gunners were killed at their posts, one shot through the forehead and one with a bullet through the ears. Toward the last we ran out of ammunition and had to make it out of infantry bullets tied up in a stocking."

Applied for Pension.
P. B. Child of La Prairie, who furnished a story of experiences in the Civil war for The Gazette last Saturday, is one of the number of old soldiers to make application for the $30 a month pension, provided for under the act of congress. Mr. Child is seventy-eight years of age. In last Saturday's issue, it was incorrectly stated that he resided in Danvers, instead of La Prairie.

COAST TO COAST TRIP WITH AN AUTOMOBILE

A touring car, sent out by the Los Angeles Times, is now forcing its way east from that city, in the interests of the proposed "Ocean to Ocean Highway." The results obtained will be of immense interest as well as big value, not only in pathfinding, but fully as much in a car and tire-testing way. It would be hard to think of any more rigorous try-out for three than a trip of this character. There are not only the road-keeping qualities to be considered, but the sand, rock and clay—the climatic and weather conditions, are of such wide variety that nothing but supremely material and construction could meet them successfully. Every condition of road, every kind of grade are bound to be encountered.

TO TRY COLORLESS OIL FOR DUST CURE

City of Madison Purchases a Carload For Purpose of Experiment
—Does Not Interrupt Traffic.

A colorless oil will be used on some of Madison's streets this year as a dust preventative. The oil is eight tenths of a cent cheaper, per square yard, than that used last year and is applied without heating.

A single carload of the oil will be purchased as an experiment. The committee did not bind itself to purchase more if this does not prove satisfactory, but the company from whom it is to be bought, offers to oil the streets for the rest of the year without further expense to the city if their product does not do what is claimed for it.

The oil has been tried in eastern cities and is said to lay the dust for an entire season. The applications are made a month apart and the first application including all labor costs but two cents per square yard. Streets can be opened for traffic fifteen minutes after the oil has been applied. It is said,

START WORK ON BELOIT SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT.

Actual work on the new Beloit sewage disposal plant in the extension of Sewer District 11, has been started. The tank is located in Carnegie avenue. It will take a month or more to complete the work. City Engineer Caldwell, who is in charge of operations, stated that the tank, when finished, will be 110 feet long, twenty-two feet wide and twelve feet deep. There will be 1,000 yards of excavation necessary to make the hole of the right proportions and 450 cubic yards of concrete will be used. Three tons of wrought iron twisted bars are to be used for reinforcing.

The tank will be the first of its kind to be installed in this city and will purify all sewage before it is emptied into Turtle creek.

SEEK TO BUY AND HOLD WATERWORKS FOR FREEPORT.

Freeport, Ill.—Organization of a company to purchase the Freeport waterworks and hold the plant in trust until the city is able to buy it is proposed by those who have been campaigning for municipal ownership. A plan similar to the one adopted at Quincy is suggested by Representative W. T. Hawleigh. The issue probably will be settled this week. The city's option for purchase of the plant expires soon. Unless the purchase of the works is accomplished through a holding company a new franchise, running thirty years, may be granted by the city.

BEDEVILERS LETS CONTRACTS FOR NEW CARNEGIE LIBRARY.

Cal. Lewis has secured the main contract for the erection of the Carnegie library building at Belvidere. Included is the brick and other mason work, which will be done by S. E. Griffith.

The contract for the tile roof has been let to a Belknap party and the heating and plumbing to a Freeport contractor.

The electric light fixtures and wiring and the decorative glass part of the work is to be assumed by the board and will probably be done by home parties.

The expenditures will therefore be: Main contract, awarded to Cal. Lewis, $12,581; architect, $1,100; other items mentioned, $3,419; total $17,500, the amount of the Carnegie gift.

REPAIR OSHKOSH STREETS ACCORDING TO CONTRACT.

The J. Rasmussen & Sons company has begun the repair of far macadam pavements according to the requirements of the guarantee which was made a part of its contract for the construction of such pavements. When the company finishes its repairs on the far macadam pavements it will start repairs on the asphalt and brick pavements that it constructed within the last five years. In acknowledgment of its notice to the Barber Asphalt Paving company that it would be expected to make repairs to the asphalt pavements it had constructed on certain streets, Mayor Mulva has received a response stating that a representative of the company would be here soon to take up the matter of such repairs with the city council.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND FOR STREET IMPROVEMENT.

Contracts valued at $100,000 for improvements on city streets were awarded by the Madison board of Public works this week subject to the approval of the council. The contracts nearly all call for asphalt macadam pavement, which has been found more durable than the old macadam pavement.—Madison State Journal.

PROHIBIT PLAYING CARDS IN HUTCHINSON DEPOT.

An ordinance introduced in the city commission of Hutchinson, Kansas, makes it unlawful to play cards in the passenger depots, and provides a penalty of $25 and costs for violations. The ordinance also prohibits drinking intoxicating liquor in and around railway stations. The railway officials have requested that such an ordinance be passed.

CLEVELAND GARBAGE DISPOSAL PLANT SHOWS GOOD PROFIT

"In the year 1911 Cleveland derived an income amounting to $189,894 from the sale of the products obtained from the 46,561 tons of garbage sent to its reduction plant, or about $1.08 per ton. The total cost of operating the plant, including charges for depreciation, interest, taxes and services of other departments was $128,888. After making all these allowances the reduction plant last year yielded a net profit of $61,006, or $1.31 per ton."

TO ADVERTISE CITY BY MOTION PICTURES.

Manitowoc, Wis.—To advertise the city, Manitowoc will be shown in moving pictures. J. S. Ludwig, manager of a local picture show, has undertaken the project and a film house representative will be in the city to start the work. Views of the important industries will be shown.

NEW STREET CAR PREVENTS ACCIDENTS TO PASSENGERS.

Schenectady, N. Y.—A new street car equipped with the latest device to prevent accidents to passengers entering or leaving it, is now being put to a practical test on the lines here. The car cannot be started while any person is standing on the step.

A device is attached to the step and the "crip handle" so that when a person puts his weight on the step or takes hold of the handle, the controller automatically locks and it is impossible for the motorman to start the car. The appliance works only when the car is standing still.

Turnouts for Automobiles.
Cement turnouts in the parkings between the sidewalk and street are being constructed in many cities. The car can thus be left standing in front of a residence without obstructing the street and in perfect safety from passing traffic. Motor car owners construct them at their own expense.

Big Appropriation for Oil.
An appropriation of some $9,000 has been set aside in the Madison budget for the purchase of oil to be used in laying street dust.

The Truth About Milk

What Scientists Say

Milk is not a beverage. It is one of the most nourishing foods known to modern science. It is a natural animal food containing all the ingredients needed for nourishment, and with very little waste. Its elements build up the body, keep it in repair and supply fuel for warmth and energy.

Milk Will Reduce Your Cost of Living

You can reduce your table expenses and offer a pleasing variety of diet that will furnish the best form of nourishment for the whole family, by substituting rich, wholesome milk for the more expensive foods. It is the most easily digested and practically the only complete natural food known. The laboring man or the brain worker can find no more nourishing food more palatable to the taste. It should be used in place of non-nourishing stimulants, such as tea and coffee, for it is a satisfactory drink as well as a valuable food.

Variation in Milk

One quart of Milk (cost 6c) has higher food value than about:

12c worth of Beef.

10c worth of Pork.

Eminent scientists say that there is probably no article of food which is so liable to variation in food value as milk. This variation is due to the breed of

NUTRITIOUS ELEMENTS IN OUR MILK.

5-20 protein (muscle-making food that builds and repairs).
6-20 fat (energy producing food).
3-20 carbohydrates (energy producing food).
1-20 mineral substances (aids in forming tissues and other uses. Needed in small quantities only.)

cows from which the milk comes. We know every herd of cows from which our milk comes. It always averages about 4% butter fat and cream.

You Pay Too Much

One expert states that one man may pay nearly twice as much as his neighbor for the same amount of food value in milk when both pay the same price per quart. If milk that contains 4% (cream and butter fat) is worth 6c per quart, milk containing 3 1/3% is worth only 5 1/4c a quart; 3% milk is worth only 4 1/2c a quart. Dealers are strictly within the law when they sell 3 per cent milk. Such milk is worth only 4 1/2c a quart. If you pay more you pay too much.

There is just one safeguard against overcharge on the milk you use. There is just one way to get the richest, creamiest, purest milk and that is to use our milk now and always. IT MEANS TABLE ECONOMY NOT ONLY TO USE MORE MILK BUT TO USE OUR MILK THAT IS THE CHEAPEST BECAUSE THE BEST. AND FURTHERMORE, WE PASTEURIZE FOR PURITY.

Please phone, write, or stop our wagon as it passes your door and take a positive step towards economy and better nourishment. Order our milk for a month's trial and you will see that it is sweeter, richer, purer.

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER
Copyright, 1907, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"Yes, that's what she's been staying in town for," said Mrs. Comstock. "It's some sort of a swindle to raise money for her class to buy some silly thing to stick up in the schoolhouse hall to remember them by. I don't know whether it's now or next week, but there's something of the kind to be done."

"Well, it's tonight," said Wesley. "and we're going. It's my treat, and we've got to hurry or we won't get in. There's reserved seats, and we have none, so it's the gallery for us, but I don't care so I got to take one good peep at Elvora."

"Suppose she plays?" whispered Margaret in his ear.
"Ah, tush! She couldn't!" said Wesley.
"Well, she's been doing it three years in the orchestra and working like a slave at it."

"Oh, well, that's different. She's in the play tonight. Brownlee told me so. Come on, quick! We'll drive and hitch closest place we can find to the building."

Margaret went in the excitement of the moment, but she was troubled. When they reached the building Wesley tied the team to a railing and Billy sprang out to help Margaret. Mrs. Comstock sat still.

"Come on, Kate," said Wesley, reaching his hand.
"I'm not going anywhere," said Mrs. Comstock, settling comfortably back against the cushions.

All of them begged and pleaded, but it was no use. Not an inch would Mrs. Comstock budge, so they left her. They found seats near the door where they could see fairly well. Billy stood at the back of the hall and had a good view. By and by a great volume of sound welled from the orchestra, but Elvora was not playing.

Out in the warm summer night a sour, grim woman nursed an aching heart and tried to justify herself. The effort irritated her intensely. She leaned back, closed her eyes and tried to make her mind a blank, to shut out even the music, when the leading violin began a solo. Mrs. Comstock bore it as long as she could and then slipped from the carriage and fled down the street.

She did not know how far she went or how long she stayed, but everything was still save an occasional raised voice when she wandered back. She stood looking at the building. Slowly she entered the wide gates and followed up the walk. Elvora had been coming here for almost four years. When Mrs. Comstock reached the door she went inside. The entrance to the auditorium was packed with people and a crowd was standing outside. When they noticed a tall woman with white face and hair and black dress on by one they stopped a little while, so that Mrs. Comstock could see the stage. It was covered with curtains and no one was doing anything. Just as she turned to go a sound so faint that everyone leaned forward and listened drifted down the auditorium. It was difficult to tell just what it was; after one instant half the audience looked toward the windows, for it seemed only a breath of wind rustling freshly opened leaves, just a hint of stirring air.

Then the curtains were swept aside swiftly. The stage had been transformed into a lovely little corner of creation, where trees and flowers grew and moss carpeted the earth. A soft wind blew, and it was the gray of dawn. Suddenly a robin began to sing, then a song sparrow joined him, and then several orioles began talking at once. The light grew stronger, the dew drops trembled, flower perfume began to creep out to the audience; the air moved the branches gently and a rooster crowed. Then all the scene was shaken with a babble of bird notes and other sounds of nature. The voices died and soft, exquisite melody began to swell and roll. In the center of the stage, piece by piece the grasses, mosses and leaves dropped from an embankment, the foliage softly blowing, while neither, and neither came the outline of a lovely girl! She floated in soft clinging green. She played as only a peculiar clime of circumstances puts it in the power of a very few to play.

At the doorway a white faced woman bore it as long as she could and then fell senseless. The men nearest carried her down the hall to the fountain, revived her and then placed her in the carriage to which she directed them. The girl played on and never knew.

That was Friday night. Elvora came home Saturday morning and went to work. Mrs. Comstock asked no questions, and the girl only told her that the audience had been large enough to pay for the piece of statuary the class had selected for the hall. Then she inquired about her dresses and was told they would be ready for her. She had been invited to go to the Bird Woman's to prepare for both the sermon and commencement exercises. Since there was so much practicing to do, it had been arranged that she should remain there from the night of the sermon until after she was graduated. If Mrs. Comstock decided to attend she was to drive in with the Sintonas.

It was almost time for Wesley to come to take Elvora to the city when, fresh from her bath, with shining, crisply washed hair and dressed to her outer garment, she stood, with expectant face before her mother and cried, "Now my dress, mother."

Mrs. Comstock was pale as she replied, "It's on my bed. Help yourself."

Elvora opened the door and stepped into her mother's room with never a sighing. She hurried to the bed to find only her last summer's white dress, freshly washed and ironed.

Somewhere a dainty lawn or mill dress simply must be hanging. But it was not. Elvora dropped on the chest because she felt too weak to stand. In less than two hours she must be in the church at Onubashin. At last she opened the door.

"I can't find my dress," she said.
"Well, as it's the only one there I shouldn't think it would be much trouble."

"You mean for me to wear an old washed dress tonight?"
"It's a good dress. There isn't a hole in it! There's no reason on earth why you shouldn't wear it."

"Except that I will not," said Elvora. "Didn't you get me any dress for commencement, either?"

"If you will that tonight I've plenty of time to wash it again."
Sinton's voice called from the gate. "In a minute," answered Elvora. She ran upstairs and in an incredibly short time came down wearing one of her gingham school dresses. With a cold, hard face she passed her mother and went into the night. A half hour later Margaret and Billy stopped for Mrs. Comstock with the carriage. She had determined fully that she would not go before they called. With the sound of their voices a sort of horror of being left seized her, so she put on her hat, locked the door and went out to them.

Margaret and Billy softly commenting on what was being done.

"That first chair in the very front row is Elvora's," exclaimed Billy, "and she's got the highest grades and no one gets to lead the procession to the platform."

"The first chair?" "Lead the procession!" Mrs. Comstock was dumfounded. A wave of positive illness swept over her. What had she done? What would become of Elvora?

CHAPTER XV.
Wherein Elvora Is Graduated With the Bird Woman's Help.

AS Elvora rode to the city she answered Wesley's questions in monosyllables, so that he thought she was nervous or rehearsing her speech and did not care to talk. Several times the girl tried to tell him and realized that if she said the first word it would bring a torrent of tears. The Bird Woman opened the screen and stared unbelievably.

"Why, I thought you would be ready; you are so late!" she said. "If you have waited to dress here we will have to hurry."

"I have nothing to put on," said Elvora.

In bewilderment the Bird Woman drew her aside.

"Did—did—she—falter, 'did you think you would wear that?'"

"No, I thought I would telephone Elvora that there had been an accident and I could not come. I don't know yet how to explain. I'm too sick to think. Oh, do you suppose I can get something made by Tuesday so that I can graduate?"

"Yes, and you'll get something on your tonight, so that you can lead your class, as you have done for four years. Go to my room and take off that gingham quickly. Anna, drop everything and come help me."

The Bird Woman ran to the telephone and called Elvora Brownlee.

"Elvora has had an accident. She will be a little late," she said. "You have got to make them wait. Have them play an extra musical number before the march."

Then she turned to the maid. "Tell Benson to have the carriage at the gate just as soon as he can get it there. Then come to my room. Bring the thread box from the sewing room, that roll of wide white ribbon on the cutting table and gather all the white pins from every dresser in the house. But first come with me a minute."

"I want that trunk with the Swamp Angel's stuff in it from the cedar closet," she panted as they reached the top of the stairs.

They hurried down the hall together and dragged the big trunk to the Bird Woman's room. She opened it and began tossing out white stuff.

"How lucky that she left these things!" she cried. "Here are white shoes, gloves, stockings, fans, everything."

"I am all ready but a dress," said Elvora.

The Bird Woman began opening closets and pulling out drawers and boxes.

"I think I can make it this way," she said.

She snatched up a creamy lace yoke with long sleeves that recently had been made for her and held it out. Elvora slipped into it, and the Bird Woman began smoothing out wrinkles and sewing in pins. It fitted very well with a little lapling in the back. Next, from among the Angel's clothing she caught up a white silk waist with low neck and elbow sleeves, and Elvora put it on. It was large enough, but distressingly short in the waist, for the Angel had worn it at a party when she was sixteen. The Bird Woman loosened the sleeves and pushed them to a puff on the shoulders, catching them in places with pins. She began on the wide draping of the yoke, fastening it front, back and each shoulder. She pulled down the waist and planned it. Next came a soft white silk dress skirt of her own. By pinning her waist band quite four inches above Elvora's, the Bird Woman could secure a perfect Empire sweep with the clinging silk. Then she began with the wide white ribbon that was to trim a new frock for herself, but it three times around the high waist effect she had managed, tied the ends in a knot and let them fall to the floor in a beautiful cascade.

"Elvora," she said, "forgive me, but tell me truly, is your mother so extremely poor as to make this necessary?"

"So," answered Elvora. "She is—different."

The Bird Woman turned the girl facing the tall mirror.

"Oh!" panted Elvora. "Is that me? You are a genius! Why, I will look as well as any of them."

The organ began rolling out, the March as they came in sight. Elvora took her place at the head of the procession, while every one wondered.

Mrs. Comstock gripped her hands together and shut her eyes. It seemed an eternity to the suffering woman before Margaret caught her arm and whispered: "Oh, Kate! For my sake look at her! Here! The noble actress!"

Mrs. Comstock opened her eyes and, directing them where she was told, gazed intently and slid down in her seat on the verge of a collapse. She was saved by Margaret's tense grip and her command, "Here, idiot, stop that!"

SPRING THE BEST TIME TO FAST.

The accumulation of waste matter in the system is a fundamental factor in the causation of disease not accidental, if not as some maintain the sole cause, and there is no more natural or logical method of overcoming the 'cause' than to discontinue the introduction of the source of the waste into the system, that is, to fast for a few days. And the best time to fast is in the spring. One who has not fasted before should begin with one day; then after two days on the usual diet, eating no more, fast two days; eat only half as much, for two days, masticating very carefully, and then fast five days, if there is no difficulty in sleeping, or other apparent objection. Drink about two quarts daily of lemonade made with the softest water obtainable; flush the colon daily, use charcoal tablets, exercise a little every day. In many cases an exclusive fruit or other monodiet is both safer and more effective than fasting, and it is always best to have competent professional advice.

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Woodall's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.
